Republican National Ticket.

FOR PRESIDENT,

JAMES G. BLAINE,

OF MAINE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,

JOHN A. LOGAN,

OF ILLINOIS.

Republican State Ticket.

FOR CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE,

GEN. E. S. OSBORNE,

OF LUZERNE COUNTY.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

IN one Millville N. J., factory where there are 37 men employed, 35 are for Blaine and Logan.

ALMOST any admirer of the Queen's English will agree that "exclusively" is a stronger word than "only."

ALL pleasure riding, boating, bathing and amusements on Sunday are to be strictly prohibited at Atlantic Highlands.

A WHISKY SELLER, living in Halifax, listened to a temperance lecture last week and in two hours thereafter died of remorse, caused by a guilty conscience.

THE Democracy will dodge. A party which in a brief twenty-four years has gone wrong on the war, on reconstruction and on resumption cannot be expected to go right this time.

THE wedding of Miss Alice Coates, daughter of Jas. P. Coates of Newport, to Mr. Theo. Frelinghuysen, son of the Secretary of State, has been indefinitely postponed without any cause being assigned.

THE "bosses" in the Democratic party nominated Cleveland by the enforcement of their odious method, the unit rule. The people nominated Blaine on the great American principle that the majority rules.

THE tariff reduction on wool has cost the wool growers of the State of Ohio over $2,000,000, without any compensating results. What percentage of this large amount has been saved by the purchasers of woolen goods? In this instance Congress legislated for Europe instead of the United States.

MR. HENRY ROBB, of Walker township, is a candidate for Sheriff, his announcement appearing in this issue. The fact that Mr. Robb is a one-legged soldier should tell very favorably in his favor with the voters of the county. It is a true sign that his Republicanism is of the right sort, and should enlist in his behalf the earnest efforts of all those who believe in honoring deserving men with their votes.

WE publish in this issue the announcement of Mr. E. I. Walker, of Boggs township, who comes before the people as a candidate for Assembly. Mr. Walker needs no recommendation from us. He has always been found in the thick of the fight in battling for Republican principles. He comes from the ranks of the common people, and understands their wants and needs. Being a laboring man he is a true friend of the sons of toil, and if the voters send him to Harrisburg he will vote and work for such measures as will benefit the laboring classes.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Phil'a Press says: "There is an old superstition among politicians that no man whose name begins with a "C" can reach the presidential chair. The names of John C. Calhoun, Henry Clay, Crawford of South Carolina, John M. Clayton, Lewis Cass and Crittenden seem to bear this out. Cleveland will be no exception. On the other hand there was never a "James" defeated. We had James K. Polk, James Buchanan, James A. Garfield and now James G. Blaine."

Words of Truth.

The following article from the New York Tribune commends itself to Republicans in general, and to the colored voters in particular. The admissions made by the exponents of Democracy are such as most conclusively show that the result of the elections in the South is not the expression of its popular sentiment. When the colored men shall become the allies of Democracy, and oppose that party which made them freemen, we shall believe in the honesty of elections in the South.

THE COLOR LINE AT THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

"Black men were as welcome to the Republican National Convention as white men. A number of colored delegates helped to shape the proceedings and one of them was chosen temporary chairman, one of the chief posts of honor. It was otherwise at the National Democratic Convention. That was a white man's convention, a convention with a color line. It contained 820 delegates, but did not contain a black man. The unwritten law of the managers would seem to have been 'no negro need apply.'

The Buffalo Courier, Mr. Cleveland's home organ, rises to explain the absence of colored delegates from the high council of the party. Writing a day or two ago it remarked: "If there are no negro delegates at the Democratic convention it will be simply because there are comparatively few Democratic negroes." This explanation is good as far as it goes, and it goes far. The vast majority of the colored voters of the United States belong to the Republican party for good and sufficient reasons. They realize that it is distinctively the party of freedom, a word peculiarly precious in the ear of a race that only lately passed out of the house of bondage. They realize that they are indebted to the Republican party for emancipation and for the Constitutional Amendments and legislative measures which secured and made practical and permanent the fruits of the war. And so, too, for cause, the black man has steadily mistrusted and fought shy of the Democratic party. It has always been against him, and he knows it. He knows that it upheld slavery, resisted emancipation, arrayed itself against enfranchisement, condoned the Ku Klux, winked at the Mississippi plan. Naturally enough, "there are comparatively few Democratic negroes."

We thank The Courier for its frank admission that "there are comparatively few Democratic negroes," in all that it implies, It implies that all the talk about "the fraud of 1876" is rank nonsense. For if "Democratic negroes are comparatively few," then the negro vote at the South was nearly all cast for Hayes; and to grant that is necessarily to confess that States which were claimed as solid for Tilden went against him. Just so the admission makes shipwreck of the Democratic pretence that the elections at the South before and since 1876 are to be reckoned truthful expressions of the popular will. The Tribune has frequently argued that fair elections would give several Southern States which are now carried by crime against the ballot-box to the Republicans. And to admit that "Democratic negroes are comparatively few" is to indorse our position and surrender that of the Democracy. The Courier builded better than it knew.

The Bourbon element is still potent in the Democratic party, and so long as it remains so the negroes need not expect any favors at the hands of the Democrats. If they desire to attend Democratic conventions, they must content themselves with seats in the gallery.

JAMES G. BLAINE'S, as Garfield's Secretary of State, proved a very efficient official. His course in the White House from March, 1885, to March, 1893, will be equally satisfactory to the country.

A Speech by Gov. Curtin.

The Philadelphia Times calls attention to a speech recently made by Gov. Curtin in Congress, which we copy because we really consider the Governor a very fine man despite his Democratic proclivities. Moreover, the Governor's sentiments are in accord with the platform adopted by the Republican National Convention:

The speech recently delivered in the House by ex-Governor Curtin, on the steady growth of land monopoly in this country, and its blighting effects upon the prosperity of labor, must attract very general and profound attention. It is not a campaign document freighted with claptrap to appeal to partisan or other prejudices, but it is an eloquent review of the withering effect of land monopoly in other governments, and an impressive appeal to this country for the preservation of our public lands for the homes of actual settlers.

It will startle many even of the more intelligent voters of the country to learn that in France with a population of 37,000,000, there are 10,000,000 of property owners, in other words, 10,000,000 of homes, and that in the United States, with 55,000,000 of population, there are less than 4,500,000 property-owners. Another equally startling fact brought out by ex-Governor Curtin is the close relation the corporative investments of this country bear to the whole taxable property of the Union, There are $7,000,000,000 invested in railroads alone, and the whole taxable property of the country is only $17,000,000,000. These are grave statements for intelligent citizens of every political faith to consider, and it is not wonderful that, with such a steady and rapid drift to land-monopoly and concentrated corporate wealth, there is deep and wide-spread concern among the productive classes of the land.

The extracts we give from Curtin's incisive and exhaustive review of the issue of land monopoly and homes for the people, will increase the already general interest felt in the question. They must crystallize public sentiment strongly against the tendency of the last decade that has moved on in stealthy tread, until we find an immense public domain monopolized by corporations and largely by alien investors to the exclusion of actual settlers. This issue goes to the very safety as well as to the prosperity of the Republic. It is in the homes of the land that the safety of free government rests; and when land monopoly and imported contract labor come in powerful alliance to hinder and paralyze the industry that makes the homes and creates the wealth of the nation it is time to pause and halt the evil day before it dawns upon the best and happiest people of the earth.

A Weak Nomination.

The following extract is from the Renovo News, an independent newspaper:

The nomination of Cleveland for president did not cause much of a demonstration. The ones who seemed to feel the best over it were the Republicans who at one time last evening talked of getting up a demonstration in honor of the event. There was no large demonstration in Renovo and we are of the opinion that if the Democrats in other places do not fall more in love with Cleveland than the Democrats of Renovo, Mr. Cleveland will fall short.

We also publish a few telegrams from various sections of the country showing what a chilling effect the mention of Cleveland's name had on the people.

LEBANON, July 12.—The Democracy is not enthusiastic over the nominations. Put down Lebanon County for 1400 for the Plumed Knight.

KARNS CITY, July 12. The majority of Democrats in this part of the oil regions express dissatisfaction with Cleveland. They were strong for Thurman and say that Cleveland is unknown out of his own state. There will be many bolters.

GREENSBURG, July 12.—The nomination of Cleveland was not received with much enthusiasm by the Democrats of this town. Hendricks for Vice-President did not help much. Many Democrats call it a weak ticket, and one that will not be elected. Republicans were jubilant over the ticket, and make it uncomfortable for Democrats with their comments.

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 12.—The nominations of Cleveland and Hendricks were received here without demstration.

ST. LOUIS, July 12.—The nomination of Cleveland created little, if any enthusiasm here.

A Protective Tariff.

Hon. Galusha A. Grow spoke at Chester City, Pa., on Friday evening, July 11, and in the course of his remarks said:

The first and all important inquiry for the law maker in the anactment of a tariff is, the amount of duty to be imposed on each specific article, so as to raise on the aggregate of importations the necessary revenue for the support of the government and at the same time guard the labor of the country against ruinous competition with the cheaply paid labor of the world. To accomplish this result would require such a duty as would make the article cost the importer in our market, not less than it costs to produce it in this country, without reducing the price of the labor employed in its production. A law thus adjusted is called protective tariff. To do it wisely requires a thorough knowledge of the relative price of labor and cost of production in the different countries where the imported article is produced.

While in most cases it is somewhat difficult to determine exactly what the duty should be, the Republican and Democratic parties differ widely as to the idea and purpose which ought to govern in attempting to ascertain it.

The prevailing sentiment in the Democratic party is that duties on foreign imports should be merely to raise revenue.

Under that idea the larger the importations the larger would be the revenue, and if the rate of duty was low, then the amount of importations must be very large in order to raise the necessary revenue.

The prevailing sentiment in the Republican party is, that while imposing duties for necesary revenue they should be so adjusted to every article, if possible, as to enable the labor of this country to produce most, if not all of them. And if it costs more to produce a specific article in this country, by reason of a higher scale of wages, then the duty on that specific article should be such as to make it cost the same price in our market as the home product costs, no matter whether such duty enhances the cost to the consumer or not, the object being to prevent a reduction in the wages of labor, while developing the material resources of the country.

Shall cheapness to the consumer in his purchase of the products of labor be weighed against the comfort of the home and the happiness of the fire-side of the laborer who produces them?

THE Philadelphia Times of the 16th contains a remarkable editorial under the head of "Is it a revolution?" It says "the Cleveland movement will be a revolution or a flash revolt and failure." That is, if the people go crazy and forget what is for their best interests they'll elect Cleveland; but if they retain their senses they'll elect Blaine. We have an idea, too, that it will turn out that way, but the following statement is more puzzling: "But if Cleveland shall carry New York, he will be elected without the electoral vote of that State, and if Cleveland shall be defeated in New York, the vote of that State, if transferred to him, would not elect him." Now, here, Aleck seems to have attempted to say something sagacious, and we think he has succeeded, for if Cleveland shall carry New York, and then be elected without the electoral vote of the State, why he will have carried New York simply for the fun of the thing. Upon careful reading this appears to be the hidden meaning of the question. The latter part of it is less confusing, as implying that in case the electoral vote of New York would elect Cleveland it would be counted for him whether he carried the State or not. Then, again, the article states that should the September and October States, Vermont, Maine, Ohio and Virginia give Blaine majorities it will indicate a Republican tide. Here is another chunk of sagaciousness bearing the McClure trade mark, and the same line of remarkable reasoning, if applied to the balance of the States, would elect Blaine, sure as daylight. The article is nearly a column in length, bristles with political wisdom, like the above samples, and all who read it will know just how the election is going, and all about it. McClure is certainly a great man.

THE Hatchet, published at Washington, D. C., pays Grover Cleveland the following compliments: "The record of Grover Cleveland, who was nominated for President by the Chicago pandemonium last week, can be written on a postage stamp. As a political accident, he was made the Governor of New York State, and as the Governor of New York State he exerted all his power to add more burdens to the heavy loads of the poor. To further his scheming ambition he prostituted his great office to comply with the demands of every monopoly which beckoned to him. He rode over the wishes of the people as represented in the Legislature because he regarded Grover Cleveland's desires to be more important than those of the general public. He made himself the pet of greedy monopolies, but, at the same time, he made every honest laborer his enemy, and the pre-eminence of the horny-handed sons of toil over the kid-gloved favorites of fortune will be beautifully illustrated, when, on November 4, New York State gives 80,000 majority for Blaine and Logan.

THE attitude of the New York Sun towards the Democratic nominees is comical. While the convention was in session, and the Cleveland tide was running high, the Sun, in conspicuous type, pronounced Grover Cleveland a political nobody and said his nomination meant disgraceful defeat for the party, This startling, though true announcement failed to throw the Cleveland management off the track and the fifth-rate statesman from Albany received the nomination. Now, then, the Sun don't know exactly what to do about it, and finds itself in about the same predicament as the small boy who went swimming contrary to orders and arrived home with another boy's shirt on. Perhaps Mr. Dana will conclude to adopt the novel plan invented by Miss Nancy Curtis and support the party by denouncing the candidates.

DR. C. P. W. FISHER, of Boalsburg, announces himself as a candidate for Associate Judge in this issue. Mr. Fisher is well known to the people of the county as an upright citizen and a good, consistent Republican, and the bench would be honored in his nomination and election to that responsible position. Some time ago, as our readers will remember, Mr. Fisher fell a victim to paralysis, his left side being partially paralyzed, which interferes seriously with the practice of his profession. It is on this account, principally, that the Doctor is induced to seek the nomination for Judge, and we doubt not his numerous friends will regard it as a good and sufficient reason for giving him their hearty support.

GROVER CLEVELAND'S passion for vetoing seems to have developed in his early life. Years ago a young lady became so infatuated with him that she proposed to him, but the cold-hearted man promptly vetoed the bill, and it is said that she became crazy and was sent to an insane asylum. A man who would veto an important measure like that is certainly not the right kind of a man to have at the head of the government. It's a very lucky thing for Cleveland that the ladies have no vote this year.

SEVERAL years ago when a friend called Mr. Blaine's attention to the fact that the accusation of being a Catholic was being used to his injury, he replied by a letter, recently made public, in which, while disclaiming connection with the church, he added 'No consideration of personal advantage can induce me to say a word against the faith in which my mother died."

CLEVELAND is widely known, isn't he? And very popular, too? And yet, if his name had been proposed in the Cincinnati Convention in 1880 what show would he have had for the Democratic nomination?

Garfield, it seems, is also to come in for a share of Democratic abuse in this canvass. At a Cleveland and Hendricks ratification meeting in Iowa, one of the speakers referred to the late President as "a man by the name of Garfield who was shot a few years since."

An attempt is being made in England, in a modest way, to utilize electricity as a motor for tricycles, the prospectus of a company having been issued. It is proposed that 100 persons bind themselves to buy an electric tricycle at $250, or, in other words, that shares of $250 each be issued, each holder of a share being entitled to be supplied with an electric tricycle. The first machine to be produced is an electric tricycle carrying two persons and fitted with battery and moter sufficient to propel it on level ground at the rate of six miles an hour.

As an evidence of the advanced state of civilization now reached in New Zealand, Mr. G. W. Griffin, our consul in that far-away place, states that the natives are no longer cannibals, having ceased to feed on missionaries some 20 years ago. Their favorite dish nowadays is "kumarus," a kind of sweet potato, and fat pigs. The island, he says, is undoubtedly the most prosperous of Australiasia. It now has over 500,000 population, embracing 50,000 Maoris, and half a dozen daily newspapers. Besides, there are 1462 miles of railroad in operation and 171 miles more in the course of construction, and about 4111 miles of telegraph lines and 13,000 miles of wire. The telephone is in successful operation with American patents, and Edison's electric light has been introduced.

"Aunt Eliza" is known and called so by the army of employees of the Pennsylvania railroad company that work about the station on the Jersey City side. For thirty-five years this old colored woman has been the stewardess of the ladies' room. She is now 65 years old, and says she was "born and baptized into the Episcopal church." She never missed church or a weekly service. No matter what the weather is, Aunt Eliza will leave her post long enough to attend to her church duties. She reads her Bible all of her spare moments, and when at work scrubbing she is forever crooning a hymn in the peculiar style of her race. During the rebellion she assisted numbers of colored people who were journeying from the South, and did all she could for the comfort of soldiers who passed through the station.

DOLLIE.

She sports a witching gown
With a ruffle up and down
On the skirt.
She is gentle, she is shy,
But there s mischief in her eye—
She's a flirt!

She displays a tiny glove,
And a dainty little love
Of a shoe;
And she wears her hat a-tilt
Over bangs that never wilt
In the dew.

'Tis rumored chocolate creams
Are the fabrics of her dreams—
But enough!
I know beyond a doubt
That she carries them about
In her muff.

With her dimples and her curls
She exasperates the girls
Past belief;
They hint that she's a cat,
And delightful things like that
In their grief.

It is shocking, I declare!
But what does Dollie care
When the beaus
Come flocking to her feet
Like the bees around a sweet
Little Rose?

HAMILTON.

As Franklin drew the lightnings down
From their ethereal home,
And made them vassals to the crown,
Of all the years to come,
Yoking them to Progression's car,
Making more swift its journey far.

So, in his hand, with power endowed,
Columbia's sainted sire
Caught from the Revolutions' cloud
The thaumaturgic fire
Of the genius of a Hamilton;
And, till the victory was won.

He leavened with it his own mind,
The clear, calm focus where
Each meteoric flash did find
A base from which to bear,
With best availability,
Upon the might from o'er the sea.

Ye, who the records love to read
Of this Republic's great,
Them, whom on thrones of thought or deed,
The centuries celebrate,
Pronounce, pronounce a greater one
Than Alexander Hamilton.

IN THE SUNLIGHT.

A bare white arm in the sunshine,
A gesture that came and went,
And heliotropes set in the window,
That burdened the air with scent.

A fair, fresh face in the sunlight,
Just under the cage of the bird,
And a voice that was full of music,
The sweetest that ever was heard.

Her hand, as she lovingly gestured,
Was whiter than driven snow,
And shone in the sun as she waved it,
While gladly I watched from below.

"Come up to me! Come, O my darling!"
Again she entreated, "Come up!"
I picked up the bundle of sweetness,
And brought her that terrier pup.

Our Story Teller.

Narrow Escape.

Which is it to be, Madelon--the blue-eyed Herbert or the dark-eyed Alfred? Which is it to be, fair coz?

Beatrice Schobert asked the question, in her customary languid voice; but her gray eyes shown with more than ordinary interest as she raised herself from the fanteuil on which she had been reclining and facing her pretty cousin, Madelon Berg.

I do not know, answered Madelon, lifting her liquid blue eyes to her cousin's face. Sometimes I think I like one best, and again I prefer the other.

What is that old adage? I could love either were t'other dear charmer away. That applies to our sex, but it will fit in this case. Is there no favored one?

Again I say, no! Both gentlemen have asked the privilege of making me happy for life, and to both I have given the same answer.

You are to be envied, said Beatrice, rising and shaking out the folds of her dress. Not yet eighteen, and with two lovers, both ardent and impassioned, and each equally clamorous for your hand. I am sure you have more tact than I gave you credit for in being able to keep them both at bay.

It required no tact, said Madelon, I told them both I must first consult my grandfather, and both were willing to leave their claims to his decision. I respect and admire Mr. Herbert Darnell, and I have an equally good opinion of Mr. Alfred Costa. I believe that either of them would make a woman happy.

I never had a lover, said Beatrice, musingly, and with something of regret in her tone; but if two men asked me to marry them, I should not waste much time in deciding between them. I have no wish to make a martyr of myself on the altar of single blessedness.

Your disposition is totally unlike mine, said Madelon, as Beatrice swept from the room. Besides, I promised Grandpa Berg that I would allow him to decide the momentous question for me if it ever arose.

How preposterous! said Beatrice, on the threshold, and she closed the door.

The two girls were orphans, and prospective heirs.

Grandfather Berg, whose great watch factory in Berne, Switzerland, is one of the wonders of that quaint city, had declared his intention of making these two girls, his nearest living relatives, heirs to his handsome fortune.

Their parents had died when they were young, and Grandfather Berg had taken care of them ever since.

They had been educated at Jena, Germany, and after the completion of their education, had spent a season of travel on the continent under the chaperonage of Mme. Jumel, who had been Grandfather Berg's housekeeper for many years.

In Paris, at a ball given by a prominent American, they had met Herbert Darnell and Alfred Costa.

Both gentlemen were well recommended, and both speedily laid court to the younger of the cousins, blue-eyed Maggie Berg, whose beauty was of that soft German type so common in the fatherland, and which had won for her a warm place in the heart of the old Swiss-German grandfather.

Some day, pretty Madelon, he had said to her, you will marry and leave the old grandfather. Make no decision without consulting me, for I want to see you happily settled, and marriage, once entered upon, is irrevocable.

Madelon had promised, therefore, to be guided by his coolor and riper judgment in selecting a life partner.

When the two lovers followed her to her western home, from whose windows she could overlook the waters of the Ohio, and each selecting a favorite opportunity had told the history of their love, and begged her to make them happy, she told them frankly of her promise to Grandfather Berg, and both had left her equally disappointed and equally confident of ultimately winning her hand.

Grandfather Berg was in New York attending to some business in connection with his American trade, but he had telegraphed them he would reach Willow Grove, the pretty villa in which they lived, that night, and after Beatrice had left for her afternoon horseback ride Madelon had the pony phaeton brought around to the door.

Just as the great sun, sinking beneath the horizon, bathed the bosom of the river in its golden light, she stepped into the tiny wicker carriage, and seizing the reins, the spirited ponies dashed down the broad gravel roadway, and covered the distance between Willow Grove and the railway station in a very few minutes.

Grandfather Berg was on the train, and he greeted his pretty grandchild affectionately.

I received your letter, he said, as he took a seat beside her in the phaeton, and am so glad you remembered your promise to me. You forgot, however, to mention the names of the two knights who desire to make my little girl their lady.

How stupid of me! said Madelon, whipping up the ponies; and then she blushed. We met them both in Paris last winter. They came to us highly recommended. Mr. Herbert Darnell is one, and Mr. Alfred Costa the other.

At the mention of the names the old man started, and his keen eyes were bent on his granddaughter's face.

Now, tell me frankly, little girl, which is the favorite, he said.

I have tried to decide, she answered, but I cannot. They are totally unlike in temperament, but both are very pleasant gentlemen.

Aha! mused the rich watchmaker. I think we can decide the matter between us. When are they to call again?

To-night, and I will introduce you to them.

No, protested the grandfather. I prefer to meet them unseen.

Sir?

When they call to-night you must secrete me somewhere in the room, so that I can see both, and overhear what is said.

Madelon opened her eyes wonderingly at this strange request, but she promised to accede to it; and when the servant announced the two lovers they were shown into the long, dimly-lighted drawing room, and Madelon went down to receive them.

Neither stayed long, and as Mr. Herbert Darnell, who was the last to bid Madelon adieu, left the room, Grandfather Berg—who had been concealed behind a heavy curtain—stepped out.

He seated himself in a great easy chair, and drew Madelon down beside him.

Little girl, he said, I have a story to tell you; and she bent her head in a listening attitude. I know both of those men. When I came across the ocean this time Mr. Herbert Darnell was my fellow passenger. I was sick, and he was very kind and attentive to me. An old man appreciates those attentions, and I formed a favorable opinion of him. If you become Madelon Darnell I will be pleased, and you, I think, will be happy.

But Mr. Costa—protested Madelon.

I met him, also, continued the grandfather, after I reached New York. Although I have been a great traveler, my experience with rascals and sharpers has been somewhat limited. The man, who calls himself Alfred Costa, formed my acquaintance at the hotel where I was stopping, and proved himself to be an accomplished adventurer, and a most consummated scoundrel. He pretended to have an acquaintance with friends of mine in Switzerland, and had the assurance to claim relationship with one of the high officials in the canton. I never doubted the truth of his statements, and was so well impressed with him, that he easily secured a loan of a thousand francs, and could have had more had he asked for it. I mentioned the fact of our acquaintance to one of my business associates, and he excited my suspicions that all was not right about my newly found friend, who had introduced himself under the name of Herman Gellert. I visited the police office in New York, and was astounded when I found his photograph in the rogues' gallery and learned his history. He is one of the most polished adventurers in the world, and is well-known to the police of both continents under a dozen aliases.

Merciful heavens! cried Madelon what a narrow escape! He was so tender, earnest and impassioned, that to-night I hoped you would decide in his favor; but now I am conscious of Herbert Darnell's good and manly qualities.

Then it is to be the latter? said Grandfather Berg.

If you wish it grandfather.

I do wish it. I have learned something of his antecedents, and he is in every way worthy to be the husband of my little girl.

When Herbert Darnell called at Willow Grove the next day, he had a long interview with Grandfather Berg, and went away a happy man.

Mr. Alfred Costa never came for his answer. A detective, who had followed the adventurer from New York, put in his appearance, and Madelon's second suitor went back to the scene of his many crimes in irons.

A Thrilling Incident.

In one of the Western towns two or three years ago resided a widow who had a son sixteen and a daughter eighteen years of age. There had never been a dram shop in the place until some three year before; the men petitioned the county organization to grant a license to open a dram shop. The women are never guilty of such outrages. One was opened, and the boy who had been an exemplary boy from childhood up, a regular attendant at the Sabbath school, soop was led astray—went there to play cards.

Let me tell you I never knew a boy in my life who was ruined by letting cards alone, but many a boy has been destroyed through the influence of cards. You older ones here to-night, to you let me say that it will do you no harm if you never play another card. If you do not you will not set an example that may sometime lead astray younger ones that look to you as parents.

This boy went into card-playing and beer-drinking, and from that to drunkenness, and in less than fifteen months, in a drunken spree, killed a comrade. He was arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The day of execution came on, and it found his sister at the State Capitol before the Governor, asking executive interference in her brother's behalf

The mother was in the prison cell watching, praying and comforting her boy as only a mother can. The hour of execution came on, and he was literally torn from his mother's arms and she fell fainting to the floor. He was taken to the gallows; the black cap was adjusted, the trap was sprung; the rope broke and he fell almost lifeless to the ground. As they raised him and the blood gushed from his nose and ears, he thinking of mother last, said in a husky tone, "Oh, mother, for God's sake have them hurry, won't you please?"

He ascended the scaffold, the rope was adjusted and the trap was sprung, and his spirit was sent to God who gave it.

Men of Des Moines, men of Iowa, for God's sake I ask you to "hurry! hurry!" Do not open more of the places of iniquity, but "hurry" to bolt them out and drive them from your land. Be brave! Strike for a higher and better civilization. From all the saloons of this city there never flowed a blessing, not one. Curses, and only curses, have come from them. How long will you thus continue to give them the sanction of the law.—From Gov. St. John's Des Moines speech.

Civilized Barbarism.

From one issue of the Charleston Times, we clip the following notices:

TAKE NOTICE.—I warn all keepers of saloons and other people, not to sell or give my son, John Wynne, any intoxicating drinks. I will prosecute any one who sells him intoxicating drinks.

MRS. H. F. WYNNE.

TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN—Take notice that I am determined to prosecute any one selling or furnishing liquor directly or indirectly, to my son, Frank Cox, to the extreme limit of the law.

E. V. COX.

NOTICE.—All persons are warned not to sell my son, James Crew, any intoxicating liquors Those doing so will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

MRS. GEORGIANA CREW.

Be it known that these notices are published in a civilized community, by anxious and agonized parents, in a forlorn and desperate hope to save their children—from what? Why, from legalized death traps, deliberately set by authority of a civilized government, and cunningly baited by the trappers who are sold the privilege of catching and destroying the people for the sum of $100 a year. If anybody says these trappers are not allowed by the law to catch the boys, we answer that those granting license to saloons, know full well that saloonists will sell to anybody that can pay. If this be a civilized country, then we say it is a civilized barbarism that compels mothers to resort to the courts to protect their boys from legalized death traps.

An Ingenious Woman—"My wife is the most ingenious woman who ever lived" said Jones.

"I believe you," said Smith, politely.

"But you don't know why you believe me," intimated Jones.

"To tell the truth I don't," frankly replied Smith, looking bored.

"Well, I'll tell you. We've been married twelve years and lived in the same house all the time, and this morning she found a new place to hide my slippers."

The License Question.

Editor Clinton Republican:

In your issue of last week the W. C. T. U., of Mill Hall, published the opinion of a Judge who had been on the bench but three months, in regard to the granting of a license at Osceola, Clearfield county, and stated that this publication was made to show "the difference in the Judges."

I would request that you publish the opinion of Hon. J. S. Futhey, President Judge of Chester county, an able and experienced Judge, and it can then be seen whether the W. C. T. U., of Mill Hall, can detect "the differences in the Judges."

Quarter session of Chester county in re-application of Boldridge, et al.

FUTHEY, P. J.--Richard M. Boldridge and Joseph Gravell, proprietors of hotels in the borough of Downingtown, presented their petitions for license in the usual form and accompanied by the usual certificates and bonds. Remonstrances were filed by those opposed to the granting of licenses, and depositions, as provided for by rule of court, have been taken on behalf of both the petitioners and remonstrants.

The question was somewhat mooted on the argument as to the power and discretion of the court in the granting of licenses, and, although this question is well settled by the language of the Acts of Assembly and adjudged cases, it may not be unprofitable to refer to it in this connection.

The question presents itself, what is the nature and true character of the discretion to be exercised by the courts of quarter sessions, under the provisions of the Acts of Assembly, in acting upon applications for license? We cannot better answer this question than by quoting what is said upon this subject in the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Schlaudecker vs. Marshall, 22 P. F. S. 204. Judge Agnew, delivering the opinion of the court in that case, says: "No subject has been productive of more difference of opinion and practice than this in the different judicial districts of the State; some judges holding it to be obligatory on the court to grant every license where the applicant has brought himself within the provisions of the law as to the terms of his application, and others holding that they are not bound to grant any license whatsoever. Clearly neither opinion is right; the discretion which the court exercises being a sound discretion upon the circumstances of each case as it is presented to the court, and not a general opinion upon the propriety or impropriety of granting licenses.

"Whether any or all licenses should be granted is a legislative, not a judicial question. Courts sit to administer the law fairly as it is given to them, and not to make or to repeal it. The law of the land has determined that licenses shall exist, and has imposed upon the court the duty of ascertaining the proper instances in which the license shall be granted, and therefore has given it to the court to decide upon each case as it arises in due course of law. The act of deciding is judicial, and not arbitrary or wilful. The discretion vested in the court is, therefore, a sound judicial discretion: and to be a rightful judgment in the particular case and upon the facts and circumstances before the court, after they have been heard and duly considered; in other words, to be exercised upon the merits of each case, according to the rule given by the Act of Assembly. To say that I will grant no license to any one, or that I will grant it to every one, is not to decide judicially on the merits of the case, but to determine beforehand without a hearing, or else to disregard what has been heard. This is to determine not according to law, but outside of law, and it is not legal judgment, but the exercise of an arbitrary will. Discretion is thus described: "Where anything is left to any person to be done according to his discretion the law intends it must be done with a sound discretion and according to law, and the Court of King's Bench hath a power to redress things that are otherwise done, notwithstanding they are left to the discretion of those who do them; and though there be a latitude of discretion given to one, yet he is circumscribed that what he does be necessary and convenient, without which no liberty can defend it.'—Tomlin's Law Dictionary, Vol. 1, title Discretion.

"It is the duty of the court, therefore, to hear and determine each case on its evidence and facts; to ascertain the fitness of the applicant the necessity of his house for the accommodation as a hotel or as an eating house, (and this involves the number of each in the particular locality) and to see that the applicant has fully complied with the law, before his license can be granted: This is a large discretion, and it is to be exercised primarily for the public good, and secondarily for the private interest. It is an error to suppose that the sole duty of the court is confined to the inquiry whether the applicant is a citizen of the United States and is a man of good, moral character and temperate habits."

The only other utterance of the Supreme court to which we need refer is Toole's Appeal, 9 Norris, 376; 7 W. N. C. 206, where the court said; "This was an application in the court below for a tavern license. The Act of Assembly gives no appeal in such a case. The grant or refusal of a license is entirely within the discretion of the court. On the face of the record we see no evidence of the abuse of this discretion. What testimony may have been before the court does not appear, and we are certainly not to presume that the refusal of the license was arbitrary and without some good reason." This language is confirmatory of their previous decision. The court has a discretion. It is not, however, to be exercised arbitrarily, but on a due consideration not only of the facts which the petitioner and remonstrants may present, but the court may act on its own knowledge or on evidence sought for and obtained.

The fact that the Supreme Court will not, as a rule, review the action of the court below on the subject of granting or refusing licenses, is no warrant for the exercise of arbitary power. There are matters constantly calling for the exercise of the discretion of the courts which are not the subject of review, but the Judge would be unworthy of his office who would, in the exercise of such discretion, substsitute his arbitrary will for a proper legal judgment, or his notion of what the law should be for that which has been declared to be the law.

With regard to the applications now before the court, we have no question, not only from the testimony, but from our own knowledge of the surroundings, that the houses for which license is asked are, in the language of the law, "necessary for the accommodation of the public and the entertainment of strangers and travelers," and that they are commodious and provided with the proper conveniences for that purpose. Their location is suitable, and they have been licensed for a long series of years—wherever licenses have been granted—and are the leading hotels in the borough of Downington. If not licensed, the only remaining hotel in the borough would be unable, from its size and location, to furnish the needed accommodations for the public and travelers.

Notwithstanding all this, if we were satisfied that the applicants should not longer be entrusted with the license, we would reject their application, and we have not been slow to do this in other cases, when satisfied of the propriety of such action.

The testimony on both sides has been mainly directed to the fitness of the applicants, and to the manner in which their houses have been kept. Much of it is contradictory, and some of it cannot be reconciled. This, perhaps, is to be expected in this character of cases.

After a careful consideration we have concluded to grant the licenses. In doing so, however, we desire to call the attention of these applicants, and of all others whom we have entrusted with license, to the requirements of the law, and to what the court will expect of them in the management of their houses.

Two little girls, Lily and Violet, were playing in a yard where they had strung some twine for a clothes line, and were washing their dolls' garments in a diminutive tub, and hanging them out to dry. Along came Lily's brother, Master Jack, a juvenile tease, and with one sweep of his hand jerked the whole day's washing from the line, and scattered it on the grass. Lily bubbled over in tears at once.

Violet was saddened, too, but the necessity of playing peace-maker in the impending family quarrel was the first thought of her mind; so she said, soothingly, "Never mind, Lily; let's play Jack was a high wind."

All Sorts.

People are getting so suspicious now that it would not be surprising any Sunday to see the deacons using a bell punch with the contribution box.

"How do you pronounce s-t-i-n-g-y?" asked the teacher of the dunce of the class. The boy replied: "It depends a good deal on whether the word refers to a person or a bee."

"Advoirdupois sociables" are spoken of as being the latest fashionable caper. We presume that they are patronized only by the ton, and that one of the pastimes is "kicking the beam."

Mother to small boy—"Well, Jack, did you have a nice time at the dancing school?" "Pretty good, only the teacher wouldn't give me a partner, and there were two or three empty girls all the time."

Excessive violence of hate is not a cause of inferiority, but a sign of it. Between two individuals or two races who are antagonistic to each other the most implicable hate is always on the side where there is least value.

Fashion item: Miss Brown, who is no longer young, was chiding Miss Moire for her foolishness in carrying a parasol which Miss Brown said was useless and a piece of affectation. 'I never carry a parasol,' she said. 'No,' replied Miss Moire, 'people on the shady side of life have no use for them.'

"Doctor, I have got the"——began a friend to a physician. "There, stop right there," said the man of physic, adding: "You know I am rich and I can afford to tell you that there is nothing the matter with you; nine people out of ten imagine four-fifths of their ills. Divert your mind and you will be all right again."

Too Thin—"It is astonishing," remarked Sam Colley at the breakfast table, "how extremes meet in this world." "To what extremes do you refer, Mr. Colley?" asked the Widow Flapjack, who was pouring out the coffee. "Well, you, for instance, are very stout, and the coffee is so very thin," and he stirred up the mixture and smiled in a sickly sort of a way. "It's not as thin as your excuses for not paying your board regularly." Sam has not said "coffee" since.—Texas Siftings.

How He came Out.

"I understand," said Charlie to Fred "that you went up last night to see your girl's father and ask him to adopt you as a son-in-law. How is it, anyhow?"

"Yes, I meandered up that way the time that twilight and daylight get so mixed up you can't tell a. m. from p. m,"

"Did you see the old gentleman?" he asked.

"Of course I did. That's what I went for."

"And did you make the proposition previously cited?"

"I did, for a fact."

"Well, how did you come out?"

"Blamed if I know. The old man caught me under the eaves of my pantaloons with his foot, and as the windows and doors were both open, I do not really know just how I did come out, but as I saw the carpenters putting in a section of new sash this morning, I am led to believe that I came out by the window. You see, I was in somewhat of a hurry and didn't stop to make a careful investigation as to the exact locality of my egress. Good morning, I'll see you later. There comes the old fellow this way."

Novelties in Diamonds.

Two superb diamond lockets adorned the desk of Chief Bracket, of the secret service department, at the custom house, New York to-day. "They are the latest Parisian novelty," said the chief, "and so far as I know, are the only specimens now in America. You see the spring concealed behind the locket, it is connected with delicate system of clockwork, by which each gem is kept continually revolving and thus constantly presenting a new surface to the light. The result is a series of brilliant light flashes which excel anything I have ever beheld."

We captured them from Isaac Freidman, a smuggler, who came from England on the steamer Arizona a few days ago, and carried them concealed in a pair of soiled stockings. They are valued at from $600 to $800 each. One of the lockets has thirty diamonds and the other fifteen. Freidman said the mechanical diamond locket appeared in fashionable Parisian society a few weeks ago, and the effect produced by them, when worn in a brilliantly lighted reception room, is bewildering in the extreme.

Why England Hates Mr. Blaine's Policy.

From the Dublin United Ireland.

A bill to establish in America what the English call "Free Trade" has just been defeated in the House of Representatives by the narrow majority of four. The measure was of enormous importance for English manufacturers, as it would have enabled them to export their goods to the States without the crushing tariff now imposed for the protection of native manufactures, and its fate was, therefore, watched with intense interest by Englishmen. Were it passed, it would have been worth at least £100,000,000 per annum to British manufacturers. If the Democratic party at their coming Convention are so unwise as to adopt a Free-trade plank in their platform, we feel sure this will alienate hundreds and thousands of Irish votes.

Notes from the Pennsylvania State Teachers' Association.

The following notes concerning a gathering in which many residents of Centre county are interest we find in the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin and publish them for the benefit of such persons:

John Morrow, superintendent of schools in Allegheny City, was elected president for the ensuing year; J. P. McCaskey, of Lancaster, secretary, and S. F. Hoge, of Tidioute, treasurer.

The executive committee for the ensuing year is as follows: Hon. John Q. Stewart, Harrisburg, chairman; C. F. Chamberlin, Meadville; J. R. Sindler, Washington county; J. H. Briggs, Mercer county, and Miss Evans, of Tidioute.

State Superintendent Higbee and ex-Superintendents Hickok and Wickersham were present and took an active part in the proceedings.

The citizens of Meadville gave a reception and banquet to the members of the association at Library hall on Wednesday evening.

A free excursion was given the teachers on Wednesday afternoon to Conneaut Lake, including a long ride on the lake.

On Friday nearly 500 of the teachers and citizens made an excursion to Lake Chautauqua, visiting Lakewood, Chautauqua, Chautauqua Point and Jamestown—180 miles travel, all for $1.25.

Dr. A. D. Mayo and Colonel George W. Bain were among the leading lecturers present at the association.

The executive committee of the association, with C. F. Chamberlin, chairman, received praise from everybody for the excellent programme, the complete local arrangements and the very low railroad and hotel rates.

The next State Teachers' Association will be held at Harrisburg, in July, 1885.

PAST IMPOSSIBILITIES THE FACTS OF THE PRESENT—HELP IN THE NEW ERA

"I remember when they were putting up the poles for the first telegraph line in the State of New York, and now look there!" exclaimed a citizen of the metropolis to his friend as the two stood on the summit of the tall Equitable Building in Broadway. "The city is strung with wires like a harp, and electric communication is the daily miracle of the world. People no longer wonder and laugh at it as they did at Morse when he first suggested its possibility."

The age marches on and prejudice must give way. Nobody has a monopoly of truth. Even the conservative guild of physicians admits that the secrets of medicine are shared by all men. "I dressed his wounds, and God healed him," said old Galen. Once that terrible disease, Rheumatism, was supposed to be a shifting, local ailment, now attacking the joints and now the muscles. To-day it is demonstrated to be a disease of the BLOOD.

Mr. Henry Bogert, of No. 454, Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes to Messrs. Hiscox & Co., of New York, proprietors of PARKER'S TONIC, that "she had been completely disabled from Rheumatism and pain in the back and limbs. She was advised to take the TONIC for Kidney disease. She did so, and her Rheumatism disappeared." The reason is simple. Diseased Kidneys produce rheumatic symptoms. Cure them and you destroy rheumatism. This is now admitted by all intelligent physicians. It is the new light thrown on their time-worn and mistaken theories.

PARKER'S TONIC, which is a combination of the best remedies for the blood known to science, is universally successful in combating this terribly common complaint. Those who, like Mrs Bogert, suffer from Kidney or Liver diseases or any complaint arising from impure blood, will find the TONIC a prompt and certain remedy. Price, 50 cents and $1 per bottle. The larger size the cheaper.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

Hay Fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a painful burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of blinding headache, a watery and inflamed state of the eyes.

Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy founded on a correct diagnosis of this disease and can be depended upon. 50 cts. at druggists; 60 cts. by mail. Sample bottle by mail 10 cts. ELY BROS., Druggists, Owego, N. Y.

I recommend to those suffering (as I have) with Hay Fever, Ely's Cream Balm. I have tried nearly all the remedies, and give this a decided preference over them all. It has given me immediate relief.—C. T. STEPHENS, Hardware Merchant, Ithaca, N. Y. 16 26 4t

BILIOUSNESS.

Bilious symptoms invariably arise from indigestion, such as furred tongue, vomiting of bile, giddiness, sick headache, irregular bowels. The liver secretes the bile and acts like a filter or sieve, to cleanse impurities of the blood. By irregularity in its action or suspensions of its functions, the bile is liable to overflow into the blood, causing jaundice, sallow complexion, yellow eyes, bilious diarrhœa, a languid, weary feeling and many other distressing symptoms. Biliousness may be properly termed an affection of the liver, and can be thoroughly cured by the grand regulator of the liver and biliary organs, BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS. Act upon the stomach, bowels and liver, making healthy bile and pure blood, and opens the culverts and sluiceways for the outlet of disease. Sold everywhere and guaranteed to cure.

How Watch Cases are Made.

A plate of solid GOLD 14 2-10 karats fine is soldered on each side of a plate of hard nickel composition metal, and the three are then passed between polished steel rollers. From this plate the various parts of the cases—backs, centers, bezels, etc. are cut and shaped by dies and formers. The gold is thick enough to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving, and engine-turning. The composition metal gives it needed strength, stiffness and solidity, while the written guarantee of the manufacturers warranting each case to wear twenty years proves that it contains all the gold that can possibly be needed. This guarantee is given from actual results, as many of these cases have been worn perfectly smooth by years of use without wearing through the gold.

DUNBURY, IA., Dec. 14, 1880.

I have used one of your James Boss' Gold Watch Cases for seventeen years. I bought it second-hand and know of its having been used before I got it, but do not know how long. It looks good for ten years longer. Did not suspect it was a filled case until so informed by a jeweler a short time since. I most cheerfully recommend your cases to be all they are represented to be, and more.

The Republican for 50 Cents.

The most interesting political campaign which this country has ever experienced has just commenced. Every man, woman and child in Centre county should read a reliable newspaper, and as the REPUBLICAN is the only paper of that sort in Centre county we will offer it to all new subscribers from July 23 until December 10 for the low price of 50 cents, STRICTLY IN ADVANCE.

This reduction for this campaign is rendered more necessary by the fact that the recent Democratic legislature reduced the salaries of all employes and then stole money to pay themselves for extra and unnecessary time spent in—doing nothing; also because the Forty-eighth Congress refused necessary appropriations and reduced many others below their usual amount, and to add to their enormous crimes, attempted tariff legislation which prostrated business, closed factories, threw thousands of men out of employment and raised Cain generally. These Democratic measures have rendered many of our subscribers poorer than they otherwise would have been. Send in your names at once for the REPUBLICAN for the campaign of 1884.

Cholera in New York and London.

NEW YORK, July 18.—Report is current that five cases of suspected cholera have been discovered in Spring Street, this city. The matter is being investigated.

LONDON, July 18.—Steamer from Marseilles arrived in the Nersy river to-day. Two deaths from cholera occurred on board during the voyage. Steamer was ordered to be placed in isolated position and all communication with the shore forbidden.

Kansas Republican State Ticket.

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 17.—The republican state convention to-day nominated the following ticket: Chief justice, Albert H. Hertier; governor, Col. John A. Martin, and lieutenant governor, A. P. Riddle.

Blaine Accepts.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 18.—Blaine's letter of acceptance, dated July 15, which is given out for publication to-day, is addressed to Hon. John B. Henderson and others of the committee. In accepting the nomination Mr. Blaine expresses his deep sense of the honor conferred and the duty imposed on him. He accompanies his acceptance with his observations upon the questions involved in the contest. In enumerating he says:

"On the issue on which the republican party appeals for peculiar support, the convention has been singularly explicit and felicitous. It has properly given a leading position to the industrial interests of the country as affected by the tariff on imports. On that question the two political parties are radically in conflict.

On the tariff question he says: "The republican party is not contending for the permanency of any particular statute, as the revenue laws are necessarily subject to frequent revision, but the republican party will always maintain a policy of protection of American industry."

It appears that while our population between 1860 and 1880 increased sixty per cent., the aggregate property of the country increased two hundred and fourteen per cent., showing a vastly enhanced wealth per capita among the people. Thirty thousand millions had been added during these twenty years to the permanent wealth of the nation.

In regard to the accusation that the foreign commerce of the country has steadily decayed under a protective tariff, he claims that it is an error to confound the commerce of a country with its carrying trade

Throwing our markets open to the world would deprive them of the power to live in comfort and to educate their children. It would prove a great calamity to our country. Regarding the relation between capital and labor, he believes the nicest and best policy is that which harmonizes the two on the basis of absolute justice. He deprecates the importation of cheap contract labor from foreign countries.

Referring to our foreign policy he says: "The United States has no cause and no desire to engage in a conflict with any power on earth, and we may rest in assured confidence that no power desires to attack the United States. With the nations of the western hemisphere we should cultivate closer relation, and for our common prosperity and advancement we should invite them all to join with us in an agreement that, for the future, all international troubles in North or South America shall be adjusted by impartial arbitration and not by arms."

On the Mormon question he says polygamy should be suppressed. The Mormons as citizens are entitled to the same civil rights as others, but to these they must be confined. He advocates the reservation of public lands for actual settlers and favors government encouragement in reviving our foreign carrying trade. The letter closes with a reference to the sacredness of the ballot, without which, Mr. Blaine says, no National welfare is assured. "The safety of the Republic," he says rests upon the integrity of the ballot, upon the security of suffrage to the citizen; a popular election honestly conducted embodying the very majesty of true government.

Found at Last.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The acting secretary of the navy has just received a telegram from St. John, stating, that the Greely relief expedition has found the survivors of Greely's party, eight men in all.

SECOND DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The survivors of the Greely party numbered seven, instead of eight, as previously reported. Their names are Lieutenant Greely, Sergeant Brainard, Sergeant Fredericks, Sergeant Long, Sergeant Ellison, Hospital Stewart Beiderback and Private Connell. They were found by the relief ships Thetis and Bear, five miles off Cape Sabine, in Smith's Sound. Sergeant Ellison was very badly frost-bitten, and died at Godhaven on July 6, after undergoing a surgical operation. The relief ships Thetis and Bear, with the survivors, are now at St John's, N. F.

Seventeen of the twenty-five persons composing the expedition perished by starvation at the point where found. One was drowned while sealing to procure food. Twelve bodies of the dead were rescued, and are now on board the Thetis and Bear.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 17.—The news of the rescue of Lieutenant Greely and seven of his party created much excitement in this city. A telegram from Commander Schley was received by Rear Admiral Nichols, acting secretary of the navy, who immediately communicated its contents to Lieutenant General Sheridan, acting secretary of war. They proceeded to the White house and showed the telegram to the president, who has taken a deep interest in the expedition and who expressed great concern at the sad death of so many of the party. A copy of the telegram was telegraphed to Secretary Chandler at West Point, and to Secretary Lincoln at New York. The families of Lieutenant Greely, Lieutenant Commander Schley, and Lieutenant Emory were also informed of the rescue.

For the first time in three centuries England yields the honor of the farthest northwestern passage. Lieutenant Lockwood and Sergeant Brainard on May 13 reached Lockwood Island, lat. 83° 24′, long. 44° 05′.

Democrats Opposed to Cleveland.

EASTON, July 17.—A club of seventy members, all Democrats, has been formed at Glendon, among the iron workers, and called the Democratic Reform Club. In their resolutions they said, whereas Cleveland has been nominated "against what we think to be for the best interest of the working class, as shown by his official acts as governor of the State of New York, such as his vetoes of the Five-cent Fare bill, the Street Car bill, the Child's Labor bill and other acts inimical to the interests of the common people," therefore. they are opposed to his election. Edward D. Gibney is the president, Owen Carroll, James McBride, Bernard Smith, Daniel McGinnis, Patrick McCann and Timothy O'Connell, vice-presidents; James Farely and Thomas Smith, secretaries.

A Deeply Afflicted Woman.

WINONA, Minn., July 20.—The wife of a well-known minister of this State is afflicted with what is known in common English as "fragile bones." All of the bones in her body are gradually turning to a substance resembling hard chalk. Several years ago an acquaintance in helping her out of a carriage broke her collar bone. As soon as it had healed one of her arms broke while some one was assisting her from a vehicle. A little later her other arm dropped helpless at her side when she attempted to make some use of it.

After a great deal of trouble both of the fractures were reunited, but in a little while one of her arms was broken in another place, the last time by the sufferer merely lifting a sugar bowl. Thus matters have run along for several years, the unfortunate woman breaking one of her limbs every little while. The disease is gradually spreading and is now reducing the bones of her legs to chalk. The greatest care is exercised to prevent the sufferer making use of her limbs. She is carefully lifted about and is moved around in an invalid's chair. Physicians say if she should fall from her chair or have an unusual shock, all the bones of her body from her knees would snap into small fragments, and, of course, death would ensue.

Won't Pay.

SHANGHAI, July 16.—The French minister at Tien-Tsin has demanded the withdrawal of the Chinese troops from the frontier of Tonquin, and the payment of the indemnity asked by France. This demand was delivered to Tsung-Li-Yamen, who rejected it. The time allowed China by France for compliance with the terms she offered expires July 19. War is apparently inevitable.

No Cholera in New York.

NEW YORK, July 19.—The five cases of supposed cholera reported on Friday have been investigated and are found to be only children's summer complaint.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

—Again on Thursday afternoon the Association ground in this place was the scene of an interesting base ball game. The nines were selected promiscuously from those who were willing to play. One nine was captained by Mr. Willis Fleming, ex-Chief Burgess, and the other by Judge A. O Furst. Those who took part in the game, including such persons as Morris Swartz, W. E. Gray, A. C. Dale, Clem Dale, Ellis Orvis, Dr. Geissinger, Wilmer Crow and others, felt decidedly sore next morning.

—We invite the attention of farmers to an article on our inside pages explanatory of fertilizers. We know that there are poor fertilizers being sold in Centre county at high prices. The same thing was done last fall by agents who were not advised in the merits of fertilizers. It is an undoubted fact that Mr. Shortlidge has made the greatest efforts to supply farmers with high grade fertilizers at low prices. For these reasons we consider farmers promote their own interest by patronizing him.

I would say to the citizens of Bellefonte and Centre county that I am agent for the Household sewing machine, the best machine offered for sale. Call at my tailor shop on Bishop street and examine before purchasing elsewhere.

—As most of the Democrats in Penn and Brush valleys are of opinion that Cleveland is an Ohio man, permit us to assure them to the contrary. A beautiful city of that name is located in Ohio, but Cleveland is a resident of New York State.

—Last week there were 238 patients treated, 298 prescriptions written and 64 operations performed on the eye at the Harrisburg Eye and Ear Hospital and Infirmary by Dr. Stickel, the surgeon and oculist in charge.

—The death of Mr. John Strunk, who lived near Jacksonville, occurred on Thursday night. The funeral took place on Sunday morning and was very large. The deceased was about 70 years of age.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

PRESIDENT JUDGE.

To A. O. Furst, Esq., Bellefonte, Penna.:

SIR: The undersigned citizens of Centre county recognizing your learning and ability as a lawyer, and believing that your long and untiring devotion to the duties of your profession have amply qualified you for the Bench, which we believe your integrity and impartiality will adorn, respectfully request your consent to become a candidate for the nomination for President Judge of the 49th Judicial District (composed of the counties of Centre and Huntingdon) before the Republican Convention of Centre county.

BELLEFONTE, JULY 21st, 1884.

To William McFarlane, Esq., and Others:

GENTLEMEN.—Your letter expressing a desire that I should consent to be a candidate for the office of President Judge of this Judicial District, has just been received. I cannot convey to you in this formal manner my deep sense of gratitude for this testimony of your confidence and regard. Let me assure you that I shall never be insensible to it, and whatever the future may be, I shall endeavor to so live and act, that I may not be unworthy of your trust. The office of President Judge should not be sought as a political prize. The duties of that office should not be lightly assumed, and when assumed they should be discharged conscientiously under the law, without respect to persons. No malice, political bias or prejudice should ever influence or sway the Judicial mind. I believe that official trust is plighted faith, and that faith should be maintained with unwavering fidelity to duty, to conscience and to the law.

I freely confess that in my own judgment, there are many members among my brethren of the bar, in this District, who are much better qualified for that high and honorable position than myself.

My whole life, since I arrived at manhood, has been spent in the study of the law, and the pursuit of my profession.

I have never been a candidate for office before the people; yet, if in the judgment of those who are interested in the administration of the law, I might be acceptable for the office of President Judge, I yield my consent to the use of my name as requested in your communication.

With assurance of my high regard and esteem, I remain very truly and respectfully yours &c.,

A. O. FURST.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The North American Review for July is out. This number contains seven important articles, all ably treated by prominent writers, as follows: "Juries and Jurymen," Judge Robert C. Pitman; "American Economies," Professor Van Buren Denslow; "Marriage and Divorce," Justice Noah Davis; "The Annexation of Canada," Dr. P. Bender; "Government Telegraph," Prof. D. McG. Means; "Private Vengeance," Charles T. Vincent; "The Tutor of the Negro," Prof. Charles A. Gardiner, and others. Many of these subjects are of national interest and all will repay careful reading. Published at No. 30 Lafayette Place, New York.

The contents of St. Nicholas for July are particularly pleasing. The frontispiece, "My Big Brudder can make it go," is from a painting by Alfred Koppes, and will produce a smile on the most solemn face. The opening article is by Emma W. Demeritt, entitled "How the Tories Broke up Meeting," a pleasing revolutionary sketch, followed by J. T. Trowbridge's story of "The Scarlet Tanager." "Jerseys; or the Girls' Ghost," is the title of Louisa Alcott seventh opening wheel story, which is fully as interesting as those that have preceded it. W. P. Harper has a lively Indian story which will hold the close attention of the boys, so will also Maurice Thompson's "Marvin and his Boy Hunters." "Historic Boys," by E. S. Brooks is continued, and a very instructive paper on the Bartholdi Statue will be found in this number. The Letter-Box and its various other department are well filled with the usual class of matter.

Lines from Loveville.

LOVEVILLE, July 17, 1884.

MR. EDITOR: My letter this week comes in the very busiest season of the year, that of harvest. At this writing most all the grain in this section of the county is cut and put in shock and some farmers have already commenced hauling it in. The crops in general around here are very good, but the best field of grain I have seen this year is on the farm of the Widow Waite, of Half Moon. If the remarkable story told about backing into the field for the two first shocks to afford sufficient space to turn ever received a genuine illustration this was an instance of it.

The excitement in Loveville was not so intense on the occasion of the announcement of the decision of the Democratic National convention as it was a month previous when Blaine and Logan were the nominees.

Mr. Sinnickson Smith left Loveville on Friday, the 11th inst., for Snow Shoe his intention being to stay at that place and Bellefonte for a few weeks. We wish him a pleasant sojourn.

Mr. Frank S. Rhoads, of Bellefonte, is tarrying in Loveville at present. Frank expects to remain with us a month and being a bright, intelligent lad his company is greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Mary Hastings, an aged lady of Centre Line, while walking through the house a week or so ago, unfortunately fell, breaking her arm and otherwise injuring herself. When last heard from she was unable to rise from her bed.

Mr. Horace G. Elder, of Stormstown, had the misfortune to have two of his fingers taken off by the saw in his shingle mill. I have not learned how the accident occurred.

Mr. John Wilson brought to his farm on last Friday a new self-binder, this being the second machine of the kind he has used. The first one purchased, he says, six years ago this harvest, failed to do satisfactory work; hence the new purchase.

Mrs. Sarah Ebbs, of Philipsburg, while sojourning with friends in this neighborhood, was suddenly taken ill and is now lying at Mr. John Wilson's. Her illness is not considered to be of a dangerous nature and a speedy recovery is looked for.

I do not like to give my friends away, but when I see an individual lose one of the wheels off the reaper he is using, without being aware of it till told, it is too good a joke to let let pass. But, never mind, "George," I wont tell your name and "Osborne' wont know it anyway.

With best wishes for all, I am,
WEB.

What Was Discovered in Lock Haven.

While Mr. George Yost, of Fairview street, Lock Haven, was surveying his premises a few days ago he observed that the pigs had unearthed a number of bricks. They aroused his curiosity and he struck a spade into the earth uncovering more bricks, a brick flue, a heavy iron grate, a stone fire-place, etc. What was his amazement as well as the wonder of all who examined it to discover that the subterranean structure is a distillery of ancient date, beyond the memory of even the oldest inhabitant. Who built it? What history attaches to it? and other similar questions suggest themselves. Is it a relic of pre-historic times? Perhaps when these Lock Havenites dig further into Mother Earth greater wonders may be discovered and the city by the Susquehanna may have beneath it a second Pompeii. Perhaps in this interesting discovery may be traced the appetite for spirits which now seems to predominate so largely among the citizens of Lock Haven. If their antediluvian ancestors made distilling a specialty and occupied their time in quaffing the product of the distillery we need not be surprised if the same characteristics are prevalent now. We shall watch the further prosecution of this search with interest. When the modern spade descends still further beer gardens, restaurants, etc., may be discovered as well as mummified figures sitting near flowing springs beneath shade trees, smoking the pipe of peace and drinking the beer of contentment. It will be a grand contribution to history, and will attract thousands to see it.

Three Accidents.

A 14-year-old son of H. T. Zerby, of Haines township, had his elbow dislocated by slipping from a load of hay.

A son of George Decker, of Gregg township, had an elbow dislocated by falling from a fence.

A little son of G. M. Rupp, of Aaronsburg, fell from a scaffold 19 feet high inflicting quite painful injuries.

—Counterfeit $10 U. S. Treasury bills are in circulation.

Accidents Saturday Morning.

The grocery store of Lewis & Co. was the scene of two bloody but not at all serious accidents Saturday morning. Ed. Foster was manipulating the meat chipping machine when the sharp knife clipped off about half an inch from one of his fingers. The boy was the only occupant of the store and he ran to the rescue, but in the excitement the instrument was upset, the knife coming in contact with one of the boy's wrists cutting it quite painfully. Dr. Hayes was called in and soon had the injured clerks all right although they felt quite ill for a few moments.

—William Runkle, son of James Runkle, who lives near Tusseyville, was the victim of a serious accident on Saturday, the 12th. The Reporter says that the young man was on a Buckeye reaper the seat of which gave way and Mr. Runkle was thrown on the platform of the machine; his leg was caught by the knives and one of his feet almost severed at the ankle. Mr. Runkle, the father, fortunately was present to give his son aid, and bandaged the leg, which, no doubt saved the young man from bleeding to death. Dr. Alexander was called and is using all his skill to avoid amputation of the foot.

—The will of the late J. Blake Walters has been admitted to probate at the office of Register Meetch. The paper is dated June 19th, 1880, and by its provisions Mr. Walters wills all his property, of every kind, to his wife, Sarah Louisa Walters, and appointed her and M. E. Olmsted, Esq. as his executors. Both, however have waived the right to act and Register Meetch has appointed A. W. Walters, Esq., of Clearfield, a brother of deceased, as executor.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

—The Centre Hall Reporter tells its readers that because there are 432 pig iron furnaces in the country capable of producing 82,679 tons per week the production is overdone. This conclusion does not follow from your premise, friend Reporter, and if you investigate carefully you will discover that it is tariff tinkering and not overproduction which interferes with the prosperity of that branch of industry.

—To those who sell berries in the market it is suggested that it injures their market value to dig them out of a bucket with a dipper. They should be kept in a large vessel, then in measuring set the measure in a large flat pan and pour the berries. It allows the berries to remain solid and unbroken, which is better for both buyer and seller.

—The cigar makers of Bellefonte challenge the tailors, or a nine from any other trade to meet them in a friendly game of base ball. If agreeable to the tailors, the cigar makers will play them on the Association ground next Monday afternoon.

—The Juniata Valley editors contemplate an excursion to Cape May some time in September.

Ringworm Humor and Salt-Rheum.

RAYNHAM, MASS., Aug. 12, 1878.

C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gentlemen— * * * * I have had ringworm humor and salt-rheum so badly that my body was covered with raw sores; so, also, my head and face. I have had any number of doctors in the last seven years, and none of them could cure me. One day my mother was in the city of Taunton, and found one of your cook books, and in reading it I found many people testifying to cures from the use of your Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I felt forced to try it, although I had seen many things advertised that never did me any good. I have now taken two small bottles and one large one of Sarsaparilla, and used three boxes of Ointment. I now call myself cured. Nothing can be seen of the humor but the dim outlines of the sores. I shall take two more bottles, and then the cure will be complete.

I am gratefully yours,
EDGAR F. WHITMAN.

Biliousness, Sick Headache.

PITTSFIELD, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co.: Gents—Please send me by express two bottles HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA and a few Cook Books for distribution. Your preparation has worked wonders in the case of my wife, who has been troubled with sick headache and biliousness for years. She only took one-half teaspoonful at a dose, and has not been so well for five years as now. She found that within a week after taking it she felt very much better, and is now entirely free from those severe headaches. She has not taken any of any account since last spring, and what little she had is lent to do some others some good, and we must have it in the house.

Yours truly,
HOMER B. NASH.

SPICES.—The best cook in the land cannot cook successfully without pure, fresh spices. These we have in every variety. Well-seasoned food adds to long life and happiness.

SUGARS AND SYRUPS.—In Sugars and Syrups we have all the best brands in the market. Much of the sugar now sold is adulterated, and in an article of this kind there is great waste. We buy from reliable dealers, and handle only the genuine goods.

TEAS AND COFFEES.—No breakfast can be thoroughly enjoyed without a good cup of coffee or tea. A drink of this kind is stimulating and goes right to the spot. Our Coffees and Teas are fresh and strictly pure. The fragrant odor which escapes from the steaming pot as it comes in from the kitchen will convince you of this. We sell more coffee than any other two houses in the county. Why? Because we sell the best and the people know it.

NUTS, CONFECTIONERY, ETC.—In Nuts and Confectionery we have everything that is nice, and just what will please the young folks, and old folks as well. Our candies are all pure and wholesome; We do not handle the highly-colored, poisonous mixtures that ruin and decay the teeth. We have new Florida oranges (this fall's crop), fine Figs and Prunes, and a choice line of Canned Fruits and Preserves. Bear this in mind when preparing to Celebrate the merry holidays.

We make special mention of the above lines of goods because they are all leading articles at this season of the year. In other lines our stock is equally fresh and complete.

We buy the Best Goods and sell at the Lowest Figures.

Buried Under an Earth Tunnel.

PARKER, Pa., July 15.—An earth tunnel near the approach to the Clarion river bridge on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, caved in yesterday shortly before noon, burying seven men under it. The tunnel was being excavated to use the ground to build the bridge approach. Other laborers working near went to the rescue at once and succeeded in taking out all the bodies. Those killed were: Frank Gleason, a Swede, apparently 28 years of age; Michael Massibrough, a Hungarian, aged 31 years; leaves a wife and two children in Hungary. The list of injured, none of whom it is believed can recover, is: Bernhard Singer, one arm and both legs broken and injured internally; William Pieper, Swede, injured internally; Charles Alich, Swede, injured internally; William Kenturah, Swede, leg broke and left ear nearly cut off; John Schalk, Swede hurt in back. Several of the men are, said to reside in Pittsburg. The responsibility for the accident has not been placed.

To Race for the Presidency.

PITTSBURG, July 13.—John Hulme, a breeder of carrier pigeons, will send four of his best birds to the city Tuesday morning to be started on a presidential race. Two of the birds will represent Blaine and Logan and the other two Cleveland and Hendricks. Each bird will have the name of the candidate it represents attached to its legs. Controller E. S. Morrow will fly the Republican team and Assistant Assessor Larkins the Democratic team. The birds will be started promptly at 10:30 Tuesday morning. The flight will be from here to East Liverpool, Ohio, a distance of forty eight miles, and it is anticipated that the birds will make it in about an hour and a quarter. One of the teams will be sent out fifteen minutes ahead of the other, and their arrival will be telegraphed to this city. There is understood to be a private wager of $300 depending on the flight. The race will be a novelty.

Ravages of the Cholera.

MARSELLIES, July 15.—There were about thirty-five deaths from the cholera last night.

TOULON, July 15.—Thirteen deaths from cholera occurred last night. The disease is increasing in the country.

LONDON, July 15.—Austria has asked the Porte to co-operate in measures to prevent the cholera from entering Asia and Turkey.

ODESSA, July 15.—In two weeks there will be a cholera quarantine here against French vessels from the Mediterranean.

LISBON, July 15.—Vessels from infected ports are forbidden to land passengers or cargo at any port in Portugal.

LONDON, July 15.—The American Consul announces that vessels from Europe must have certified clean bills of health from the American Consul at the port from which they sail, or they will not be allowed to enter American ports.

Business Failures.

BALTIMORE, July 15.—A receiver has been appointed for J. B. Piet & Co., Catholic publishers. Liabilities, $40,000.

NEW YORK, July 15.—C. S. Henry, petroleum broker, has failed. He was short about 600,000 barrels at nearly the lowest prices during the recent depression. He was a member of the governing committee of the Petroleum Exchange.

WILMINGTON, Del., July 15.—Dawson Bros., manufacturers of mills and mill machinery, have failed. Liabilities, $60,000. The senior member of the firm has absconded.

PITTSBURG, July 15.—The clothing establishment of Samuel Bowman was closed to-day by the sheriff on executions aggregating $11,000. Executions against Fleishman Bros., milliners, aggregating $5,000, were placed in the sheriff's hands to-day.

A Son's Painful Discovery.

CAPE MAY, N. J., July 15.—While a party of boys were out rowing last evening, they noticed the masts of a schooner sticking up out of the water. Suddenly Harry Williams explained that it was his father's vessel, and that all on board were lost. The schooner was the Deborah Diverdy, owned in Dennisville and commanded by Captain Frank Williams.

On her last trip Captain Williams had with him his wife, two sons, John and Frank, a steward and his wife, and two deck hands, whose names are unknown. The vessel is thought to have left Boston about four weeks ago, and since then nothing has been heard of her. It is thought that the schooner must have sprung a leak and sunk before any of those on board had time to save themselves.

A Convict's Leap for Liberty.

WILKES-BARRE, July 15.—John Schuter, who robbed Oscar Heyer's jewelry store a few months ago, and who is now serving a term in the County Jail, made a desperate effort to escape this morning. With other prisoners, he was taking exercise in the yard, and, while the keeper's back was turned, succeeded in clambering, by the aid of some outbuildings, to the top of the high wall surrounding the yard. Thence he leaped over twenty feet to the ground. One leg was broken, and he was so much bruised and cut that it is doubtful if he can recover.

Boat Races Postponed.

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 16.—The Consolidation races at Conneaut lake were postponed until to-morrow on account of rough water.

Railroad Accident.

LONDON, July 16.—News has just been received of a terrible railroad accident at Penistone, a railway junction near Barnsley. From the information received, which is meagre, it seems that an express train while dashing past the station at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour struck the rear car of a goods train which had not been properly shunted, completely wrecking the express, killing twenty-five and seriously wounding forty of the passengers. It seems that the axle of the engine attached to the express train on the Manchester and Sheffield railway broke near Penistone and the train jumped the track and fell from the bridge which it was on at the time.

The scenes underneath the bridge after the train had fallen were most terrible to witness. The carriages were reduced almost to splinters. The groans of the men and the shrieks of the women and children were heart-rending in the extreme. Some delay was experienced before the victims could be extricated from the wreck.

Female Saloonist Defying Prohibition.

MARSHALLTOWN, Ia., July 16.—A woman who kept a saloon here before the prohibitory law went into effect, began selling beer against that law Saturday. Temperance people caused her arrest yesterday. She gave bonds and continued to sell. The sheriff attempted to arrest her today, when she drew two revolvers and defied him. He procured assistance, and after a turbulent scene, in which the mob came to the woman's assistance and flourished revolvers, she was arrested. The crowd surrounded the jail and threatened to tear it down. When released on bail she was triumphantly carried through the streets by the yelling populace. This action is at the instance of the Marshall brewery which proposes to make this a test case.

A Weak Ticket.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Secretary Teller furnishes a denial of the published report that he had said the democratic ticket was especially strong. He says he has not asserted or intimated that the nomination of Cleveland and Hendricks was especially strong. He adds that he believes the nomination of Bayard, Thurman or McDonald for president would have been stronger than that of Cleveland, and that McDonald in his judgment would have been a stronger candidate for vice president than Hendricks. Mr. Teller said he felt much more confident of the success of the Republican ticket since the democratic nomination than before, and that he has no doubt that Blaine and Logan will carry both New York and Indiana.

Lynch Law in Kentucky.

OWENSBURG, Ky., July 14.—At 2 o'clock this morning a crowd of masked men forced open the doors of the jail here and hanged Dick May, a colored prisoner, charged with a serious crime, to a tree near by. The jailer, R. M. Lucas, while the hanging was in progress, fired from the balcony of the jail, killing one man and fatally wounding Dr. Lockart. The crowd then fired on the jailer, wounding him seriously. He was given prompt attention, but he died at 7 o'clock this morning.

Lacerated Affections.

SUNBURY, Pa., July 13.—Charles Werner, of Watsontown, a butcher, who exchanged shots with Henry Reader, a druggist of that place on Thursday night, filed an affidavit, through S. Boyer, Esq., his counsel, at Sunbury, before Judge Rockefeller, charging Reader with alienating his wife's affections from him and causing his happiness to be destroyed and placing his damages at $5,000. The sheriff was directed to arrest Reader and he was placed under $2,000 bail to answer at next term of court.

A Bicycler on His Travels.

ELKHART, Ind., July 16.—Thomas Stephens, who is traveling around the world on a bicycle, passed through here to-day on his way from San Francisco to New York, which place he expect to reach on August 15. From there he sails for Liverpool, whence he will go by bicycle to Constantinople, returning from there to San Francisco. He averages about fifty miles a day. He is also writing a description of his travels for publication.

"Yellow Jack" in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 16.—The yellow fever is prevalent at Guaymas, and several cases have appeared at Mazatan. People are fleeing from the latter place, and the authorities of Hermosillo have put a quarantine on the Sonora railroad line. They examine every train, and the cars are fumigated before they are allowed to pass. The fever this year appears to be confined to the Pacific coast, and none has as yet appeared at any of the gulf ports.

Suicide.

CHICAGO, July 16.—Mrs. Louisa Wilcox took her own life this afternoon by swallowing carbolic acid. The lady was of a nervous disposition. On Sunday the baker sent some pies to the house which did not suit her. At noon yesterday she said to her boarders, "This is the last meal I shall ever cook for you," and soon afterward purchased the poison which ended her existence.

A Boston Ratification.

BOSTON, July 15.—The first Republican ratification meeting of the campaign was held to-night in Tremont Temple. The hall was crowded and an overflow meeting was held. The platforms were occupied by leading Republicans from various sections of the State. Speeches were made by Senators Dawes and Hoar, Congressmen Rice and Crapo, Gov. Robinson, Ex-Gov. Long and others.

There is a book in the office of the Clerk of the U. S. Supreme Court which weighs 200 pounds, and there is a standing reward held in the hands of Chief Justice Waite for any one who can shoulder it without assistance. It has never been shouldered by any one yet. It is the record of the celebrated Myra Clark Gaines case brought into the Supreme Court by the City of New Orleans, and it has lately been ordered to be printed with maps of the disputed sections of the city. The case is 50 years old.

Taking her measure for a Belt.—"Josie, darling," said a fond mother, in a mild tone of reproof, "Josie, what was Henry's arm doing around your waist as you stood in the doorway last evening."

"His arm wasn't around my waist. I just played philopena with him and won a belt, and he was only taking my measure; that's all it was."

The following, copied from the Lowell Daily Courier, speaks well of an article made in their city: "Hood's Sarsaparilla is fast growing into use, and doing much good. The testimonials which they give are bona fide, from parties who have used the preparation, and cheerfully give their testimony as to its worth. Those afflicted with Scrofula, Biliousness or General Debility, should try this remedy. Hood & Co. are careful and experienced pharmacists, and their preparations can be relied on."

A fair Pharisee: She—"I think it's a sin and a shame to kill the dear little feathered songsters. If I had my way I'd make a law against killing birds. Of course when there is an actual necessity for shooting the dear creatures one must stifle one's feelings, you know."—Boston Transcript.

Shortlidge's Farmers' Supply Agency.

BELLEFONTE, July 1st, 1884.

In addressing the farmers of Centre county, Pa., who wish to purchase honest fertilizers, I realize the fact that any business will prosper best and live the longest by selling the best goods at fair and reasonable living profits. With these facts in view, I now enter the field as a vender of honest fertilizers, with the assurance that I can further my own interests, as well as add correspondingly to the farmers' prosperity; thereby making our common interests mutual. With these objects in view, I have arranged with manufacturers to supply me with the highest grade fertilizers for the lowest prices, that are now offered for sale in Centre county, Penn'a. When I established my Farmers' Supply Agency this spring, I entered into a more vigorous investigation of the fertilizer business than ever before. My first consideration was the quality of the fertilizers I should sell; the second, the price; the third, the reputation of the manufacturers with whom I should deal. I did not depend on the representations of those who offer fertilizers for sale; unless corroborated. I examined into the merits of each brand within my reach as analyzed under the supervision of the State Board of Agriculture of Penn'a; which, in conjunction with the recommendation of some of the best farmers of our Commonwealth, led me to adopt the sale of Ammoniated Dissolved Bone Phosphate, manufactured by Messrs. Lister Brothers, Newark, New Jersey—a firm of high reputation and successful manufacturers of thirty-four years standing.

CORROBORATED TESTIMONY.

I herewith annex the following analyses, to which I invite the attention of all those interested in the true character of fertilizers.

From the Pa. Agricultural report for 1883, page 366, number 349. Dr. F. A. Genth's analysis of Lister's Ammoniated Dissolved Bone Phosphate:

Soluble Phosphoric Acid	10.6	per cent.
Reverted " "	3.28	"	"
Insoluble " "	.86	"	"
Potash	1.35	"	"
Ammonia	2.58	"	"
Commercial vrlue	$38.36	per ton.

Same report, page 372, No. 195:

Lister's Ammoniated Dissolved Bone Phosphate.

Soluble Phosphoric Acid	9.15	per cent.
Reverted " "	2.60	"	"
Insoluble " "	2.19	"	"
Potash	1.63	"	"
Ammonia	3.18	"	"
Commercial value	$39.32	per ton.

Showing the average commercial value to be $38.84 per ton of 2,000 lbs.

PRICE AND TERMS.

Notwithstanding the high commercial average value, I sell this celebrated Phosphate at $35.00 per ton put up in bags of 200 pounds each, payable the 1st of January, 1885, or $34.25 per ton if paid during September, 1884—the freight, $3.00 per ton, to be paid in cash on delivery of fertilizer, which will be deducted from the above prices. I wish it to be distinctly understood that the above Phosphate is of the highest grade and sold on a cash basis and is manufactured from animal bone, bone black, sulphate of potash, dried blood or nitrogen in the form of ammonia and dried slaughter-house refuse or tankage, samples of which I have on exhibition and will be pleased to show them to farmers who prefer a high grade goods.

To those in want of a high grade acidulated South Carolina Rock I offer Zell's Dissolved Bone Phosphate. I take from the tabulated analyses of fertilizers issued by the Pennsylvania State Board of Agriculture, the following analysis by Prof. W. H. Jordon:

Soluble Phosphoric Acid	9.04	per	cent.
Reverted " "	4.91	"	"
Insoluble " "	1.57	"	"
Commercial value	$28.62.

My price for the above Phosphate is $26.50 per ton, payable in one year, without interest, from September 1st, 1884, or $25.00 per ton if paid November 1st, 1884. The freight, $3.35 per ton, to be paid in cash, which will be deducted from above prices. Bills in all cases to be settled with satisfactory notes on delivery of Fertilizers.

Farmers, please bear in mind that to receive prompt attention all orders should be received by me before August 20th, 1884.

BEWARE OF FRAUDS.

I warn farmers to beware of "special inducements." All ingredients which enter into the composition of high grade fertilizers are always in active demand and command the cash on delivery. Legitimate competition in the sale of honest Fertilizers keeps prices within reasonable profits, therefore "special inducements" can only be offered in the sale of inferior goods with the expectation of realizing enormous profits.

Inferior fertilisers occasionally improve the crops some seasons more than others. When successful they owe their success to ingredients already in the soil, lying dormant, which they bring into active plant food. When these ingredients are not in the soil the incomplete fertilizers are a failure, which gives rise to the fallacy that "commercial fertilizers exhaust the soil." It is therefore unsafe for farmers to apply incomplete fertilizers unless they have knowledge of the particular ingredients the soil requires. Therefore they should use those which are complete and the best is the cheapest.

DO FERTILIZERS PAY?

I am frequently asked: "Do commercial fertilizers pay the farmer and will they not ultimately leave the land in a poorer condition than it was when the use of fertilizers was commenced?" To the first question I answer "Feed the land and it will feed you." To the second the most instructive answer I have is a quotation from an address of Prof. W. H. Jordon, delivered before the State Board of Agriculture: "Of course, the best answer that could be given to inquiry concerning the possibility of farming without the aid of yard manure, is one coming from experience. The only case that can be mentioned of careful observation concerning the exclusive use of commercial manures for a long period of years is that of the experiment of Lawes & Gilbert of Rothamstead, England. Experimental plots which have received complete commercial fertilizers for thirty-nine years are now producing as much wheat per acre as when the experiment began, and rather more than plots that have received stable manure alone for an equally long period. The important point to be noticed in the experiments referred to is that only complete fertilizers have maintained the fertility of the soil and that the partial fertilizers have failed to do so.

"This brings us to the kind of fertilizers to be used.

"A distinction should be made between a complete and a partial fertilizer. Stable manure is always a complete fertilizer in the sense of always containing all the kinds of ingredients that are essential to the growth of plants. Commercial manures may or may not be complete in the same way. Dissolved South Carolina rock alone is a partial fertilizer, as it contains no nitrogen or potash, whereas if it be mixed with muriate or sulphate of potash and sulphate of ammonia, or nitrate of soda, a complete fertilizer is the result. The objection offered to partial fertilizers is based upon undoubted facts. It is certainly true that when South Carolina rock causes an increase of production it is enabling the crop to utilize ingredients that were already in the soil, but which could not be utilized until the deficiency of phosphoric acid had been met.

"If the supply of phosphoric acid be kept up from outside the soil, but not of other essential ingredients of plant growth, it is reasonable to suppose that the supply of the latter may sometimes fail. The teachings of the experiments of Lawes and Gilbert are, that a complete commercial fertilizer can be depended upon to keep up the fertility of the soil indefinitely, but that a partial fertilizer cannot.

OHIO EXPERIMENTS.

"A large number of tests at the Ohio Experimental Station, with complete fertilizers containing 4 per cent. Nitrogen as ammonia, 3 per cent. Potash and 7.5 per cent. of available Phosphoric Acid, gave in nearly all cases a notable increase of crop, while any incomplete fertilizer, that is, one lacking nitrogen, phosphoric acid or potash did either little good or some harm.

"Even a complete mixture, made up at the farm, gave a like unfavorable return."

In the use of South Carolina acidulated rock, many farmers have adopted the plan of spreading their barn yard manure and plowing it in, even though it be a "thin coat" and drill the rock with the wheat, which as a rule gives satisfactory results.

Having prepared the above facts for our mutual benefit, I trust they will receive the consideration at the hands of farmers that their merits demand, and that you will consider the fertilizers I offer for sale the most desirable for farmers to buy.

CHAMPION GRAIN DRILL.

I am agent for the sale of the Champion Grain Drill, with the MARKS forced feed fertilizer attachment, the most complete Drill in the market.

I also sell Howe Scales, all sizes, at WHOLESALE PRICES. Conkling wagons, American fruit evaporator—a good investment for farmers who have apples. Sewing machines of the best make at reasonable prices, with a full line of farm implements.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

—Foliage is luxuriant.

—The summer is half gone.

—Republicans, see that you are registered that you may not lose a vote.

—Mrs. Messini, an old lady from Lewisburg, made a misstep and broke her ankle while in Millheim last week.

—Beck's barber shop has the electric light and Mills will also soon bask under the rays of the same illumination.

—About 50 members of the Wm. R. Forster Post, G. A. R., of Mifflinburg, expect to attend the encampment in this place in August.

—The car load of agricultural machinery unloaded at the depot last week was consigned to Van Pelt & Shoup, of Centre Hall.

—The Lutheran Sunday school of Lock Haven is arranging for a grand excursion to Cresson on the 31st of July. So says the Express.

—Isaiah Taylor, of Altoona, one of the oldest conductors in the service of the railroad company, was killed by the cars near Huntingdon on Tuesday, the 15th.

—Millheim is still without the modern convenience of a telephone Come, Millheimers; this will never do for a town that affects to be progressive.

—A little son of Benjamin Limbert, living over three miles west of Madisonburg, was kicked above his left eye by a young horse a few days ago. It may cause his death.

—There are two staunch Republicans on the editorial staff of the Centre Democrat. Tell you what, it takes Republican brains to get out a first-class Democratic journal.

—Charles Sprout, of Harrisburg, was bitten on the arm by a mosquito, a few days ago, and that member has since become so much swollen in consequence of the bite that he is unable to work.

—Mr. Frank Lingle announces that, politically speaking, he is now "on the fence." That ratification meeting, on Saturday night, is what caused him to straddle. When he touches ground again it will be on the Blaine side.

—The people of Williamsport, Bellefonte, Danville and Mt. Carmel, will have the pleasure next week of seeing the finest amateur club in Pennsylvania play base ball, as the Resolutes, of this place, will visit the above mentioned places next week. —Renovo News.

—The Defiance base ball nine, of Philadelphia, remained in town until Monday, the 14th, when they departed for Clearfield. It is believed that they would have been pleased to give the Association nine another opportunity to try conclusions with them. Perhaps they will return in the near future.

—Adjoining pavements should be of the same height which is not the case with the one in front of the Watchman office and that in front of Heisler's saloon. A gentleman fell quite violently at that place last week and unless a change is made soon another little bill for damages will be received by the borough authorities.

—The Undine Hose Company are preparing for another hop in their hose house on Friday evening, July 25. This will be the second of the series, the first, a few weeks ago, being highly successful. The music will be good and the dancing lively and a first-class time is expected. Of course, there will be a large attendance.

—Capt. George Bayard, who is chairman of the committee to secure boarding houses for visitors to the G. A. R. encampment, is now attending to his duties in that connection, and will be pleased to have those who are willing to take guests during the encampment report to him the number they will receive and also whether ladies or gentlemen are preferred.

—Bellefonters patronize all progressive improvements, and although electric light is not a year old in Bellefonte over seventy business establishments and residences have introduced it. Many of those who use it speak of it in the highest terms of commendation and would not be without it. Yet there are some pretentious towns in the State in which it has not yet been introduced.

—Why will not the doctors and lawyers of Bellefonte engage in a game of base ball? Such a contest occurred in Williamsport on Saturday and was attended by may people, including ladies and gentlemen. The lawyers won by a score of 17 to 10. There are Doctors Dartt, Hoy, Harris, Hayes, Seibert, Dobbins, Smith, Kirk, and Brockerhoff. Among the lawyers material is abundant, viz., Fortney, Spangler, Furst, Dale, Hastings, Hewes, Gephart, Keller, and Keichline. A game between these worthies would be infinitely amusing.

A Market Melange.

Prices were high on Tuesday, and everything was sold at an early hour. In fact, the only thing that was low was the temperature.

In consequence of the fact that the mercury descended so far below its normal July condition, the girls wrapped themselves in blanket shawls and the men wore overcoats.

Then, too, because of the very previous hour when the market began t was only the early bird that got the cherries and—the worms.

The embodied intelligence of the Watchman office in the person of Rev. Joe Furey, graced the market with his presence. He caught sight of a few baskets of tremendous large red raspberries and inquired the price. When the answer, "Twenty-five cents per box" was given, he softly murmured, "Not for Jo!"

There are some criticisms to be made on the way of conducting the market. The best of everything is sold wholesale and then is left in the wagons to tempt purchasers. For instance, the only cherries that we considered worth purchasing that morning had been sold to somebody. It is wrong to display articles that are not for sale, for when a would-be purcaser inquires the price and finds he can't have them for love or money he is disposed to feel sort of "sold" himself. Thus it happens that when a man may go to market feeling very bright and cherry and may be disposed to make purchases in a lamb-like way these disappointments raspberry much on his good nature and affect an eggs-traordinary change in his conduct. Not caring to be considered such small potatoes he will rush around with great veal-ocity and ten chances to one he will butt-er on the apple-cart and get hurt himself, and then people will say it is a (s)mere case of sour grapes.

Have We a Police?

MR. EDITOR: It is a general impression that we have, but a stranger taking a walk from 9 to 11 p. m. along Linn street, especially if he should stop a few moments in the vicinity of the public school building, would conclude that we either had no police force, or that their time was exclusively occupied in looking after the barrooms and saloons on High and Allegheny streets. It has become a nightly occurrence to see squads of young men and half grown boys stationed at one of the corners of Linn and Allegheny streets, engaged either in singing at the top of their lungs, blaspheming or obscenely covering the side walk and crossings with tobacco juice and making one of the pleasantest promenades of our town unfit for ladies to pass. If the saloons must monopolize the whole time of our police, let them employ a special policeman and pay him out of their own pockets, for it is a well known fact that they are really responsible for 19 out of every 20 arrests made, and pay a mere pittance towards the expense, while many of our heaviest tax payers reside in the northern part of the town and have no police protection whatever. Our authorities owe it to themselves to see that this rowdyism is broken up. Q.

[We consider that our correspondent is somewhat unjust in his judgment of our police. It is a well known fact, that they are not paid sufficient to devote their entire time to police duty and are compelled to make their living in other ways. One, of them, at least, is highly valued by others if not by our correspondent. He has received excellent offers to go to other places, and it a question if he can be retained in Bellefonte, even with his salary increased.—ED.]

The Building Boom.

No other fact indicates the steady growth of Bellefonte to a greater extent than the number of buildings that are being erected. Particularly is this the case in the southwestern part of the town and in the suburbs along the Roopsburg road, where four or five frame dwelling houses are in a condition of partial completion and will be finished before winter. Quite a large house located high upon the hill in a direct line from the Bellefonte Boat Club house is being built by a Mr. Walker. The one on the lower side of the road, just opposite, is being built by Richard Detling, the man who formerly drove Haas' brewery team. D. G. Bush is also building several houses in the same locality. T. R. Reynolds has made arrangements with H. S. Sayre to erect for him four substantial frame houses on east Logan street, which will be a fine addition to that thoroughfare. The two frame residences in process of erection by Maj. Wm. F. Reynolds, on Reynolds' Avenue are progressing very satisfactorily and the five beautiful frame dwellings on Linn street being built by Judge Hoy and Gen. Beaver are about completed. Work is now being carried on industriously upon the new Presbyterian Sunday-school building and it is conceded to be one of the finest structures, architecturally and mechanically, in Bellefonte. We will give a further description of this edifice when it is completed.

Obituary—Rev. A. M. Creighton.

The following comprehensive obituary notice of the Rev. A. M. Creighton, of Philipsburg, is from the Conference News:

This servant of God died in Philipsburg, Monday July 7th, 1884, at 2:30 p. m. He was born near Lewistown April 16th, 1831, and was therefore in the 53d year of his age. At 19 he was converted, six years later he was licensed to preach, and in 1857 was admitted to the old Baltimore Conference, and appointed to Concord Circuit. His subsequent appointments were as follows:—'59, Lock Haven Circuit; 60-1, Warriors Mark; 62-3, Beaver Meadow; 64-6, Sunbury; 67-9, Montoursville; 70, Ashland; 71-3, Trinity, Danville; 74-6, Renovo; 77-8, Montoursville; 79, Hazelton; 80-3, Philipsburg. In the spring of 1883, in impaired health himself, and with a wife rapidly declining, he took a supernumerary relation and located himself in Pittsburg. In the following September his wife died, and ten months later he was laid to rest beside her in the old burying-ground near Gray's Church, in Half Moon Valley.

He died of Bright's disease, and though his last days were marked by great suffering, he was patient and submissive. The death of his wife, together with his sickness, wonderfully loosened his hold on the present, and turned his thoughts into the future. When the final hour came he surrendered his three boys to God's keeping, and was calm, submissive and peaceful.

His funeral took place on Wednesday, July 9th, the services being under the direction of Rev. J. H. McGarrah, Presiding Elder of the Altoona District, and were held in Gray's Church. Rev. George W. Bouse offered an appropriate prayer. Scripture lessons were read by Rev. W. R. Whitney and Rev. Dr. J. S. McMurray; the character, life and labor of the deceased were reviewed in appreciative addresses by Rev. George Guyer, Rev. J. B. Polsgrove and Rev. J. H. McGarrah.

Meeting in the Court House.

A meeting will be held in the Court House on Thursday evening to make arrangements for the encampment of the G. A. R. Every business man and public spirited citizen should be present at this meeting as it will be of immense importance to all. The encampment means not only a pleasant reunion for the veterans, but it also means considerable financial profit for the place in which it is held. The encampments at Gettysburg have been attended by 3,000 veterans besides an equal number of interested visitors and on each occasion from $10,000 to $20,000 have been left behind in the coffers of the business men. This is not a small consideration, and should secure the hearty co-operation of business men, without taking into account the increased esteem in which a community will be held which receives visitors with a hearty and generous hospitality. Now, it is certain that the number of veterans at the encampment will exceed 2,000 and will probably be nearer 3,000, and the visitors will be as numerous in proportion as in former years. Not an effort should be spared to receive them properly, not only because they are veteran soldiers who are always entitled to respect, but also because they include among their number many of Pennsylvania's most distinguished citizens whom it is an honor to entertain. A consultation in regard to this subject in which all citizens will engage is very necessary, and let every citizen who can do so attend the meeting in the Court House to-morrow evening.

A Cave Party.

A party of eight young ladies and gentlemen who went to Penn Cave on Monday, the 14th, enjoyed themselves as only such a company can. They made the journey to the cave in two large carriages each drawn by two horses. It would not do for those who are out for a day's pleasure to pursue the ordinary path to the cave and consequently the leaders of our party took the most circuitous roads that could be found, driving through farms and over tumble-down bridges which had not been used before for years. That no accident befell them must be due to the fact that a very kind fate watched over them. At length, the cave was reached, an elegant lunch partaken of, a pillow fight engaged in and the party explored the interior of the mysterious cavern. An equally choice supper, previously ordered, was partaken of at the Old Fort Hotel, after which the party returned to town, reaching here about 9:30 o'clock.

—The merchant or business man who advertises now is the one who receives the trade when it begins. It is true, people don't buy so much now as they do during other times of the year, but on account of more time, they more thoroughly read the papers and will the better know where to buy when the season comes and they are ready. Judicious advertising always pays, not only during busy seasons, but dull ones as well. Especially is this true during the presidential campaign. Then it is when almost everybody reads the papers. This being the case it is apparent to the most casual observer that the most conspicuous and best displayed advertisement is the one most read. People will buy where the best bargains are offered. Now is the time.—Renovo News.

—The Logan Hose Company have received a dozen beautiful badges of old-gold colored satin which bear the following inscription: "Good Will S. F. E. and Hose Co., No. 2, Hollidaysburg, Pa., guest of Logan Hose Co., No. 1, Bellefonte, July 4, 1884." A cut of the beautiful engine belonging to the Hollidaysburg Company also adorns the badge. These will serve as very appropriate mementoes of the picnic, which was mutually enjoyable to the Hollidaysburg company and their hosts. We are also assured that a delegation of the Hollidaysburg firemen expect to visit Bellefonte some time in September to make a formal presentation of an article of value to their hosts. We can assure them that the Logans will be pleased to receive them.

—The thirteenth annual camp-meeting at Newton Hamilton will commence Tuesday, August 12, and end Friday, August 22. The grounds will open for occupancy on Saturday, July 26th, and all who wish to occupy their tents at that time can do so. Persons desiring tents can be accommodated, as long as any remain, by addressing the Secretary, J. K. Rhodes, Newton Hamilton, Pa. Price of tents, $7 for first floor, $5 second floor, or $10 together, when occupied by the same family.

What the Towns Tell.

An up-town genius gets off the following: Cleveland Cant-on that day be made To-le(a)d-oh no. The Crestline will be drawn over which the Democratic party can never pass. They will carry the Dayt-on their brow as an emblem of eternal regret, leaving their nominee to Piqua (pick away) at his old profession for a living. This should Warren them to cease their efforts.

Who Was He?

A bicycle rider rode into town from Bellefonte yesterday, having accomplished the task in about three hours. The roads being so bad hereabouts he took Day Express for Huntingdon, at which place he will again take the road and spin out for Atlantic City.—Tyrone Correspondence of Altoona Times of Wednesday.

Excursion to Watkins Glen and Niagara Falls.

An Excursion to Watkins Glen and Niagara Falls will be run via Pennsylvania Railroad about August 19th prox. Persons who accompanied the Excursion last season will be pleased to hear of another opportunity to make this delightful trip.

—"I shall fight it out on this lyin' if it takes all summer," remarks an anti-Blaine Democrat, and then he sends to headquarters for some more "doctored facts."

There is nothing like Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil to quickly cure a cold or relieve hoarseness. Written by Mrs. M. J. Fellows, Burr Oak, St. Joseph Co., Mich.

—The ninth annual meeting of the Juniata Valley Medical Association was held at Cresson on Tuesday, the 15th.

—The early closing system has thus far been a success.

Disappeared from His Home.

Alex. Cree, a respectable citizen of Spruce Creek and a faithful employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad, left his home on Monday morning and has not been seen or heard of since. Mr. Cree is subject to occasional melancholy spells, and has at different times absented himself for short periods, but never for more than a few days at a time, the longest period being a week. He would then always communicate with his employer, Mr. James Cullen, supervisor at that place. His silence this time and long absence give cause for the worst being feared. Any news of his whereabouts will be cheerfully received by his anxious family.—Altoona Times.

—The great need of Bellefonte is better tenant houses.

The combination, proportion and process used in the preparation of Hood's Sarsaparilla are peculiar to the medicine and unknown to others.

Terms, $2.00 per annum in Advance

Local Department.

—A party of colored people visited Penn cave on Thursday.

—The Watchman editor has a post-office bee buzzing in his bonnet.

—The Democratic ratification meeting in Clearfield consisted of 50 boys and a band.

—The early crop of huckleberries is reported light, but the late ones will be plentiful.

—Benjamin Butler, the Watchman wants to know why you will be so cruel as to run for President.

—Ex-Gov. A. G. Curtin honored the meeting in the Court House with his presence on Thursday evening.

—Cape May is to have a $60,000 pier.—L. H. Express. In that event it cannot be said that Cape May is peerless.

—The corner stone of the new Reformed church of Aaronsburg will be laid with appropriate ceremonies on Sunday, August 10.

—The Presbyterian congregation had the pleasure of listening to a minister from a distance on Sunday. We have not learned his name.

—We will publish Hon. James G. Blaine's letter of acceptance next week. It is a remarkable document and should be read by everybody.

—Centre county Democrats are solid for the ticket.—Centre Reporter. That's a mistake. There is great dissatisfaction in Bellefonte among the Dems.

—That portrait of Hendricks in the Watchman was an old one used to represent Tilden several years ago. It looks just like the "Sage," but not at all like Hendricks.

—The Ladies' Mite Society of the Reformed church of Aaronsburg will provide a festival on the afternoon and evening of July 26, to which they invite their friends.

—Some enterprising capitalist might purchase Penn Cave and several surrounding acres of ground and create for himself a bonanza by erecting a splendid hotel on the site.

—A lecture will be delivered in Aaronsburg on the evening of Saturday, August 2, by Gen. B. Frank Fisher. Subject, "Life in Libby Prison and Incidents of Escape Therefrom."

—Now Bellefonte is becoming thronged with welcome guests whose company will be enjoyed during the rest of the season and who, on departing, will be warmly invited to come again.

—The decision of the contest for the benefit of the church at the forge, between Cal. Harper and some other equally prominent gentleman (we forget who it is) has been postponed until Monday, August 18, when it will be decided, and will doubtless aid the church financially.

—The Democrat remarks that "The Republican 'wire pulling concert' will take place in Bellefonte, August 16th." As the encampment of the G. A. R. will be the only event in Bellefonte on that day it is in order for the Democrat to explain why such an epithet is applied to it.

—The Watchman remarks that the only "drawback" to the success of the Democratic meeting, on Saturday evening, July 12, was the heat. If Democrats are drawn back by heat on such a cool evening as that what will they do as the campaign progresses and waxes hotter? Keep cool, Dems.

—Tyrone correspondent of Altoona Times: "Mr. E. A. Nolan, proprietor of the Mountain House at Snow Shoe, drove from Philipsburg to that place, Thursday, in one hour and fifty-three minutes—a distance of twenty-four miles. When we take into consideration that it is principally a mountain route, we consider that pretty rapid driving."

—Those who often enjoy the delightful drive from Bellefonte to the top of Nittany Mountain pronounce it one of the finest in the State. This is probably the last season that it will be so attractive as the proximity of the B, N. and L. R. R. will render it dangerous. But the benefit which will accrue from that completed railroad will enable other new and equally excellent drives to be opened up.

—On Wednesday morning the dead body of a Hungarian was found in the bottom of the "big cut" near the Vanderbilt House, kept by Mr. John Delaney and located not far from Snow Shoe. As there were suspicions that he might have met his death by foul means, an inquest was held but no evidence of importance elicited. He is not known even by the Hungarians of that vicinity and a verdict was returned that death was caused by the fall into the "big cut," which is deep and dangerous.

A Great Gathering

It is evident that our citizens do not properly apprecate the importance of the G. A. R. encampment to assemble in Bellefonte August 16 to 22, as a meeting called to make arrangements for it would have been attended by a larger audience than was that on Thursday evening. There was, however, a sufficient number present to devise some very practical measures to give the veterans a warm reception. D. F. Fortney, Esq., presided and stated the object of the meeting so far as his knowledge of such gatherings extends, calling on Mr. Austin Curtin, Senior Vice Commander of the Dep't of Pa., to supplement his remarks. Mr. Curtin related the preliminary measures taken by the Executive Committee which culminated in the choice of Bellefonte as the place for the encampment, enumerated several items, of expense which the proper reception of the veterans will entail and also the immense advantages such a gathering will be to the town. The cost of transportation of baggage and tents to and from the Fair Ground is one item, lumber for the floors of tents is another, fireworks to be used during the sham battle on Tuesday, August 19, entertainment of the famous "Weccacoe Band" to accompany the Philadelphia posts, taking the electric light to the Fair ground, etc., were included among the necessary expenses. He believes that not less than $600 will be sufficient. To off-set this, he said that similar encampments at Gettysburg had left behind them as much as $50,000 on each occasion, remunerating a hundred fold for all expense and trouble.

Col. Hastings, who spoke as a representative citizen and not as a veteran, said he believed the amount raised should not be less than $1000, and volunteered to assist. Col. Keller, Mr. A. Loeb and Gen. Jas. A. Beaver also made practical suggestions.

It is quite probable that all the money needed will be raised in a few days.

The committees appointed to canvass the town are as follows:

North ward—Col. D. H. Hastings; A. O. Furst, Esq., and J. L. Kurtz, West ward—Valentine Smith, L. L. Brown and John Anderson; South ward—J. A. McClain, J. L. Spangler, and D. F. Fortney.

The paper upon which they ask for subscriptions has written upon it the following:

$1200 NEEDED!

For the purpose of providing a fund to pay the general expenses incident to the coming encampment of the G. A. R., such as fuel, light, straw, flooring for tents, transportation of tents and equipage, maintenance of the encampment, sham battle, fireworks, etc. The undersigned agree to pay the sums set opposite their names to John L. Kurtz, treasurer of finance committee, on or before August 9, 1884.

A Young Men's Republican Club.

In response to a call, a large number of the young men of Bellefonte who desire the election of Blaine and Logan met Wednesday evening in the room in Humes' building formerly occupied by the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of transacting the preliminary work looking to an organization of a campaign club. The large room was half filled at 8 o'clock and the meeting was called to order by Major Harvey Benner. Mr. E. T. Tuten was unanimously elected temporary chairman and W. E. Gray secretary.

On motion, the names of those already enrolled were read and others invited to sign as members the invitation being quite generally accepted by those present, ninety-two names being enrolled. John G. Love, Esq., stated the object of the meeting, and on motion of W. F. Reeder, Esq., a committee of three in each ward to secure signers was appointed. The committees are as follows: North Ward, George Johnston, Chas. Richards, Wilbur Harris; South Ward, J. D. Sourbeck, Newton S. Bailey, Jno. Musser; West ward, James Selbert, W. T. Hillibish, Jno. Olewine.

On motion, a committee of five on permanent organization was appointed to report at the next meeting on Friday evening, July 25. The committee is as follows: John I. Rankin, S. D. Ray, J. C. Brachbill, H. H. Schroyer and George Schrock.

The meeting adjourned with shouts for the candidates.

All young men between twenty-one and forty years of age are eligible.

—The next hop to be given by the Gentlemen's Dancing Class will occur at the Bush House on Thursday evening of this week, July 24. It will be the most notable of the series, and will be rendered especially attractive by the presence of many ladies from a distance.

—Burglars are worrying the Clearfield people.

A Reply.

That disgraceful sheet which sails under the title of the Democratic Watchman contained little else than falsehoods in its issue of Friday morning, but never did a more untruthful utterance appear in its columns than the following from a correspondent who signs himself "Anti-Blaine Republican":

Why, it's a notorious fact that it cost General Beaver two hundred and fifty dollars to keep the editor of the Republican from becoming a "traitor" only two years ago.

The editor of the Republican always admired General Beaver. He had the distinguished honor of being the first to propose the gallant General for the office of Governor and still advocates his claims for that position. Never did the thought of withdrawing from his support enter the mind of the editor of the Republican. "Anti-Blaine Republican" should be man enough to sign his proper name to the article in question; but, whoever he may be, we pronounce his assertion an unmitigated falsehood.

We challenge the Watchman to produce any Republican in Centre county guilty of writing the communication. It purports to have been written by a friend of General Beaver and at the same time charges him with having paid the editor of the Bellefonte Republican a large sum of money for the support of his paper two years ago. It is such friends as this that do a man more harm than good. If he had taken the trouble to ask the General about the matter he would have learned that a dollar was never given to the editor of the Republican except in an honest, legitimate way. The letter in question was not written by any Centre county Republican, but by some traveling free trade crank, who is willing to stab Beaver to get in a thrust at Blaine and to injure, if possible, the cause of Protection and the Republican party.

As a rule, we consider the articles which appear in the Watchman beneath contempt and unworthy of an answer from one who wishes to maintain his self-respect, and we almost despise ourselves for condescending to reply on this occasion.

One of Governor Curtin's Stories.

The Pittsburg Telegraph relates the following story, and says it is one of Governor Curtin's: "Governor Curtin, now, is a very good story teller. Down in the Foreign Affairs Committee room at Washington, the other day, he was giving a few sketches of old time life to an appreciative group of silver grays. Among others, this is one of his first law cases: "It was in the old times of contract prison labor in Pennsylvania," said he, "when the convicts in the county jail were let out at auction to the neighboring farmers to work during the harvest season. Very little watch was kept over them, but such was the reverence for the law and the quantity of the jailer's board that few of them ever attempted to escape. One of them surprised me by coming into my office one morning while I was sweeping out. I wasn't proud in those days. He wanted me to get him out of jail on a habeas corpus. What reason do you suppose he gave? 'I was working out at Mr. Walkinshaw's yesterday, your honor,' he said, 'and we had big jag of hay down. When the horn blew in the evening it looked for rain, and I stayed an hour or two to help get the hay under cover. I got in a bit after dark, and would you believe it, that hard hearted beast of a jailer had locked me out. I had to sleep in the street, and I have the rheumatism in my bones, and I'll stop no more with a man that uses me that way. I want you to get me out.'"

—The Eleventh annual inter-state picnic under the auspices of the Patrons of Husbandry Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia and Delaware will open in Williams Grove, Cumberland County, Pa., on Monday, August 25th, and continue five days. From a circular issued by the manager we learn that the exhibition for 1883 was a grand success. Over 100 car loads of implements and machinery were displayed, and during the six days the attendance of people was estimated at 75,000. Farmers were present from 20 different States. Goods sold on the grounds, and orders taken by manufacturers amounted to $194,000. Members of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, and their families and friends, may be supplied with tents on the grounds by making application. Circulars, giving full details of the arrangements furnished on application by R. H. Thomas, Mechanicsburg, Pa.

—Ex-Governor Curtin is sanguine that Cleveland and Hendricks will sweep the country.—Sun and Banner.

That's very clever of these gentlemen, we are sure. They would confer a great favor by contracting to sweep the cities, also, particularly while the cholera scare exists.

The Fire at Scotia.

About 11:15 on last Wednesday night the cry of fire startled the few inhabitants of Scotia, and as this was something unusual in that region a few of the people hurriedly pulled on their clothing and started in the direction of the alarm. When the scene of the conflagration was reached it was found to be Guyer Mattern's store room, in which was stored quite a lot of general merchandise. A lamp had exploded that was standing on the counter and throwing its blazing contents over the goods the whole room was soon enveloped in flames, and although everything was done to save the contents that human hands could do, yet, owing to the intense heat and the rapidity with which the fire traveled, everything was consumed, excepting one barrel of meat and a bag of coffee. There was no water within a quarter of a mile, and people were therefore obliged to stand idly by and look at the building being consumed, without being able to do anything to save it. In a very short time the building, with its contents, had gone up in fire, flame and smoke, and nothing was left to tell the tale excepting a few dying embers and a pile of ashes.—Tyrone Correspondent of Altoona Times.

The Mifflintown Tribune is responsible for the following: A large rat fell from a window in John Howe's stable to the alley, the other day. Dave Etka was about fifty feet away when he saw the rat drop. He had a base ball in his hand at the time, and threw it at the rodent, the ball hitting the animal and killing it instantly.

—Two accidents occurred near Centre Furnace on Wednesday while the funeral cortege following the remains of the late Daniel Houser was proceeding to the cemetery. One of the horses in the procession became unmanageable and a jam occurred, many of the other horses becoming frightened. In the confusion Mr. Christian Dale, Sr., was thrown from his buggy and received painful injuries. A lady was also slightly hurt. It is certainly appropriate to suggest at this time that only the most gentle horses should be used on an occasion of this character and when one becomes unruly it should be driven at once from the procession.

Death of Mr. Ferdinand Beezer.

Monday morning shortly after one o'clock Mr. Ferdinand Beezer, proprietor of the Spring creek distillery, a short distance from Bellefonte, breathed his last after quite a long illness. Mr. Beezer leaves a wife and several children. He is brother of Mr. John Beezer, of the meat market in this place. He was 38 years of age, the date of his birth being June 15, 1846.

The funeral took place at 3 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

—Mattern's store at Scotia burned Wednesday night. There was insurance on both the stock and building, the latter with Bond Valentine and the former with Jos. A. Rankin & Son. Mr. Wm. B. Rankin went to the scene of the conflagration next day. We have not learned how it caught, but understand that the destruction was entire. P. S.—The fire occurred about 10:45 p. m., and was caused by the bursting of a coal oil lamp. Loss will reach several thousand dollars.

—One of the most beautiful hollyhock blossoms we have ever seen was laid on our table las Thursday by A. B. Steele. It is pale yellow and shows the result of high cultivation, the stamens and carpels being multiplied into so many rows of petals that it would take a long time to count them. It resembles a large and perfect rose. It was taken from a bush which has hundreds of buds.
